Edison Philosophy.
All in Paupers' Graves.
Vanderbilt's Story.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ON his eightieth birthday, Edison was the witch of Endor, answering all questions put him by 50 reporters. Hear the wizard:

Says Ford is right about the five-day week, and the four-day working week is coming.

Is spiritualism "the bunk?"

It is.

When will you retire?

Just before my funeral.

Democracy works fairly well, where the people are fairly intelligent.

Real life, worth while, starts at about 35.

Military aviation is the thing most important for defense.

Crime?

It will gradually diminish, because it does not pay.

THERE you have a high percentage of wisdom.

But even Edison is not all wisdom. Asked "what do you think of Russia?" he replied: "They mean well, but the ruling men know nothing of real life."

That, from a scientist in his New Jersey laboratory will amuse men dealing with 200,000 Russian villages, 120,000,000 Russians, 40 languages, 40 races and 40,000 new problems born with the death of the Romanoffs.

When the first agricultural machinery, cutting, threshing and bagging grain was sent to remote Russian districts by the soviet government, priests of the Greek church were dispatched to the fields to reassure superstitious peasants.

That is how it is with some of our best minds, especially as they grow old and rich. They are first over the fence, when you mention any new idea in government. Mr. Edison's opinion of Russian ideas that seeking to make human beings more nearly equal is about the same as the early opinion of public schools, or the abolition of slavery.

EDISON believes in the immortality of the soul, or, like millions of other men relying on reason, not on faith, he tries to believe in it.

It bothers him, because his job in life has been testing and proving. And immortality is something you can't test or prove. The Congo native, wondering at the hippopotamus by day, wishing he could eat it, and wondering at the stars by night wishing he could placate them, knows as much about immortality as Edison.

AS you think of Edison's genius, simplicity and true greatness, don't forget what that genius has done in the practical world for workmen and capitalist and hundreds of millions that use electric light.

The financial side represents a small part of Edison's value, but it is a fact that industries made possible by him represent today a capital of fifteen thousand millions of dollars.

And he is comparatively a poor man, still working hard.

He wishes he had more money, that

ROADS BLOCKED

15-inch Fall Occurs in County Towns Since Friday.

With rain forecast tomorrow, rivermen today feared another flood stage in the Ohio, as an aftermath of a 15-inch snowfall in three days.

Although the river was slowly rising during the forenoon, a drop in temperature checked it at 2 o'clock, when the stage as 18.8 feet.

If warm weather and rain follow the snowstorm, accumulations in the mountains will feed into the Ohio, probably causing serious damage in lowlands.

Fire During Storm.

In the midst of the snowstorm, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, damage estimated at about $500 was done by fire to the home of Mrs. George Pershybaker, 913 West Fourth street. Mrs. Pershybaker and her daughter were spending the night at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Thomas Price, Ephriam street, when the blaze, believed to have started when the lead hose on a gas heating stove in the front room melted, was discovered. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The house, a two-family dwelling, is owned by the heirs of William Hall.

Transportation service was crippled Sunday morning but schedules were re-established on the street car lines during the afternoon and evening hours. Automobiles struggled through the snow with difficulty. Drifts, three and four feet in depth, were encountered in the rural sections. Trains over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division operated on time throughout the day, officials reported.

Lawrence Copeland, United States weather observer at Millport, in the western part of Columbiana county, reported 10 inches of snow up to 9 o'clock this morning. The fall in that section Friday was light whereas about six inches fell in East Liverpool.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL N. P. KERR CALLS FOR FREE MEDICAL EXAMINATION OF ALL FOOD HANDLERS

Declaring that the city solons had nothing to do with the preparation of the legislation, President of Council N. P. Kerr today assailed the health board plan of charging a fee for medical examinations required under the recently enacted food handlers' health regulations.

Maintaining that the measure was adopted upon the recommendation of Health Commissioner Edward Miskall and the president of the board of health, Kerr said: "Some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for the medical examination is all wrong. If the city wants to force an examination of this character on the workers, the health commissioner should make the examination without charge. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind, and why should the applicant be required to pay an extra fee?

Termed "Freak Legislation"

Indirectly terming the measure "freak legislation," Kerr said:

"We have too many laws now, and not enough common sense used in some of these measures. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of respect for the laws or enforcement of them."

Kerr's said letter, which was addressed to The Review-Tribune, was not written "to censure anyone, but merely to put council right with their constituents."

The letter follows:

"At a meeting on February 3, city council passed an ordinance sanctioned and fostered by the East Liverpool board of health, regulating the conditions under which a person could work in the restaurants, hotels, lunch rooms, etc. This ordinance, No. 3012, makes it compulsory for all employes to take a physical examination twice a year, or as often as the health board sees fit.

"In my estimation some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for this examination is all wrong. If the city wants to force an examination of the character on the workers, the health commissioner should make this examination free. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind and there is no reason why the applicant should be made to pay any extra fee.

"The health board president when he brought the ordinance to council never said anything about any fee except the one incorporated in the ordinance, and in justice to the members of council I think that undue criticism has been heaped upon them because of the extra fee that is being charged by the board of health.

The trouble with so many things like this is that they are brought to the council and are lauded to the skies, and council passes the legislation, and then something is added to

RAIN FORECAST ALARMS VALLEY AS OHIO RIVER RAMPAGE LOOMS

15-inch Fall Occurs in County Towns Since Friday.

With rain forecast tomorrow, rivermen today feared another flood stage in the Ohio, as an aftermath of a 15-inch snowfall in three days.

Although the river was slowly rising during the forenoon, a drop in temperature checked it at 2 o'clock, when the stage as 18.8 feet.

If warm weather and rain follow the snowstorm, accumulations in the mountains will feed into the Ohio, probably causing serious damage in lowlands.

Fire During Storm.

In the midst of the snowstorm, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, damage estimated at about $500 was done by fire to the home of Mrs. George Pennybaker, 913 West Fourth street. Mrs. Pennybaker and her daughter were spending the night at the home of an other daughter, Mrs. Thomas Price, Ephriam street, when the blaze, believed to have started when the lead hose on a gas heating stove in the front room melted, was discovered. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The house, a two-family dwelling, is owned by the heirs of William Hall.

Transportation service was crippled Sunday morning but schedules were re-established on the street car lines during the afternoon and evening hours. Automobiles struggled through the snow with difficulty. Drifts, three and four feet in depth, were encountered in the rural sections. Trains over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division operated on time throughout the day, officials reported.

Lawrence Copeland, United States weather observer at Millport, in the western part of Columbiana county, reported 10 inches of snow up to 9 o'clock this morning. The fall in that section Friday was light whereas about six inches fell in East Liverpool.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL N. P. KERR CALLS FOR FREE MEDICAL EXAMINATION OF ALL FOOD HANDLERS

Declaring that the city solons had nothing to do with the preparation of the legislation, President of Council N. P. Kerr today assailed the health board plan of charging a fee for medical examinations required under the recently enacted food handlers' health regulations.

Maintaining that the measure was adopted upon the recommendation of Health Commissioner Edward Miskall and the president of the board of health, Kerr said: "Some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for the medical examination is all wrong. If the city wants to force an examination of this character on the workers, the health commissioner should make the examination without charge. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind, and why should the applicant be required to pay an extra fee?

Termed "Freak Legislation"

Indirectly terming the measure "freak legislation," Kerr said:

"We have too many laws now, and not enough common sense used in some of these measures. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of respect for the laws or enforcement of them."

Kerr's said letter, which was addressed to The Review-Tribune, was not written "to censure anyone, but merely to put council right with their constituents."

The letter follows:

"At a meeting on February 3, city council passed an ordinance sanctioned and fostered by the East Liverpool board of health, regulating the conditions under which a person could work in the restaurants, hotels, lunch rooms, etc. This ordinance, No. 3012, makes it compulsory for all employes to take a physical examination twice a year, or as often as the health board sees fit.

"In my estimation some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for this examination is all wrong. If the city wants to force an examination of the character on the workers, the health commissioner should make this examination free. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind and there is no reason why the applicant should be made to pay any extra fee.

"The health board president when he brought the ordinance to council never said anything about any fee except the one incorporated in the ordinance, and in justice to the members of council I think that undue criticism has been heaped upon them because of the extra fee that is being charged by the board of health.

The trouble with so many things like this is that they are brought to the council and are lauded to the skies, and council passes the legislation, and then something is added to

CHECK CHARGE IS REVIVED

Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, Goes to County Jail.

An indictment returned by the January grand jury, of 1922, when Judge J. C. Hanley of municipal court, of East Liverpool, was then prosecuting attorney, and charging Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, with uttering and publishing a forged instrument of the value of $400 is now in the hands of Sheriff George Wright, and Mrs. Ware is in the county jail with two additional affidavits pending against her charging her with similar offenses.

The indictment charges that on Dec. 15, 1921, a check for $400 was issued on the Port Angeles, Wash., state bank payable to Mrs. Ware and made by "L. L. Ware." This check went to protest, was returned to this county and an indictment followed. This check went through the Citizens Savings Bank at Salem.

According to affidavits filed with Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon Saturday, R. M. Prosser, of Bayard, has charged Mrs. Ware with uttering a false check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon, Feb. 5th last, of the purported value of $24, this check being signed by "George Pike" while the affidavit filed by Ora E. Nisson of Bayard, charges the woman with issuing a check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon Feb. 1st for $20 and signed by "Geo. Stoffer." The latter check was made payable to "N. Weir" and was endorsed by "Nina Weir." This check went to protest after being cashed by Ora Nisson.

The check that Prosser cashed was made payable to "L. L. Weir" but there was no protest, as the check was not put through the banks.

No time has been set for an arraignment in the last two cases, at the suggestion of Walter W. Beck, counsel for Mrs. Ware.

GENE MAY JOIN GIBSON AGAIN

Reported Ready to Patch up Affairs With Ex-manager.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Advices current today in cauliflower unpreferred and very common were to the effect that James Joseph Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world in several languages, has decided to return to first principles and Billy Gibson. The young man has been far away from both ever since he won the title last September but they say he has begun to think better of it.

Gibson was out like an ex-window as soon as Tunney discovered that he didn't like the day he had been managed into the heavyweight championship. He put Mr. Gibson on an allowance or something and placed his business affairs in the hands of Dudley Field Malone, the barrister who resolutely stationed himself in the bow of a tug and swam the channel in front of Gertrude Ederle.

Dudley is aboard at the moment arranging an exhibition tour for Tunney throughout England and Europe, but they say Gene may turn up quite absent on the dates specified. Dudley, in other words, may yet find himself completely surrounded by air, of which the supply seldom is exceeded by the demand.

Tunney already has mended one of his fences by re-establishing an entente cordiale with a man who split with him over the Gibson business. The intimation that the Tim Mara suit may be settled amicably also indicates a Tunney-Gibson reunion, since Mara was Gibson's friend first and Tunney's adviser afterward.

Tunney's theatrical tour will end March 19 and the word now is that he will head east immediately and go into light conditioning at Speculator, N. Y., where he started to work out for Dempsey. His haste to begin training would appear almost unseemly in view of the belief that Tunney lives the life of a monk.

He does, as a matter of comparison with other fighters, but the fact is that Tunney doesn't carry the thing to the extremes that popular fancy prefers. I know men with whom he has sipped a cocktail. Others have told me that he likes burgundy in moderation. His intimates relate that he drank a bottle of champagne after the Dempsey fight.

This data is not marshalled as an indictment. My reaction to the thought of Tunney sipping a cocktail is that the gentleman must be more human than his uptown manner would indicate. It is this picture of a paragon on a pedestal that has destroyed, as much as anything else, Tunney's chance of being an appealing figure with the public.

Persson too Lazy To Make Million; DeForest is Out

Swede Looked Good Until Work Got too Heavy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Did you ever hear the one about the man who was too lazy to make a million dollars? Laugh, now, and show your molars. Professor Jimmy de Forest has heard of him. James, in fact, knows him well; too well, perhaps.

For James is by profession, instinct and the sweat of his brow a developer and trainer of boxers and, in the course of human events, it is his custom to profit as a result of the association. That is what angers James now. He thought he had a million dollars worth of heavyweight Swede and then the next thing he knew all he had was a tired business man they called Harry Persson.

Harry, it seems, was so tired that he sat down to shave himself, leading the professor to wonder whether he was a Swede at all. I think the professor suspected he was a nephew of Sitting Bull.

It seems to be James' lot to get himself mixed up with pugilistic gentlemen who harbor an aversion for exercise. He handled Luis Firpo, the well-known human being, until the latter decided that all work and no play made Luis a bum fighter. He overestimated the situation, however. He always was a bum fighter.

The professor himself agrees that Persson was and is a better man than Firpo at any stage of course, in the ring. Outside the ropes, the records speak for themselves. Luis got the money and Harry got little or nothing beyond a punch in the nose from Jimmy Maloney. In both cases, the professor was short changed.

He admits, perforce, that Persson might never have reached the million dollar goal but at the same time he can't forget that, two months ago, the Swede's chances were no worse than the next man's.

However, that was two months ago. Today, Persson is no longer with us, having languidly accepted passage to Sweden. He simply was too bored with life to do himself any good.

"He wouldn't walk, he wouldn't run, he wouldn't box," says the professor in his best platform manner. His discourse seemed to be at an end. But suddenly inspiration seized him.

"He wouldn't even think," he added triumphantly.

Tut, tut, professor. No wonder you got nothing. You ask too much.

The commissioners announced that a conference is being arranged with Jefferson county commissioners for the near future with a view of comparing plans for the job.

Although Jefferson county commissioners have informed Wellsville men that they are in favor of the improvement, they have taken no steps toward plans or estimates.

The Pennsylvania railroad, the two counties and the state and federal governments would share the cost.

CHECK CHARGE IS REVIVED

Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, Goes to County Jail.

An indictment returned by the January grand jury, of 1922, when Judge J. C. Hanley of municipal court, of East Liverpool, was then prosecuting attorney, and charging Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, with uttering and publishing a forged instrument of the value of $400 is now in the hands of Sheriff George Wright, and Mrs. Ware is in the county jail with two additional affidavits pending against her charging her with similar offenses.

The indictment charges that on Dec. 15, 1921, a check for $400 was issued on the Port Angeles, Wash., state bank payable to Mrs. Ware and made by "L. L. Ware." This check went to protest, was returned to this county and an indictment followed. This check went through the Citizens Savings Bank at Salem.

According to affidavits filed with Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon Saturday, R. M. Prosser, of Bayard, has charged Mrs. Ware with uttering a false check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon, Feb. 5th last, of the purported value of $24, this check being signed by "George Pike" while the affidavit filed by Ora E. Nisson of Bayard, charges the woman with issuing a check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon Feb. 1st for $20 and signed by "Geo. Stoffer." The latter check was made payable to "N. Weir" and was endorsed by "Nina Weir." This check went to protest after being cashed by Ora Nisson.

The check that Prosser cashed was made payable to "L. L. Weir" but there was no protest, as the check was not put through the banks.

No time has been set for an arraignment in the last two cases, at the suggestion of Walter W. Beck, counsel for Mrs. Ware.

GENE MAY JOIN GIBSON AGAIN

Reported Ready to Patch up Affairs With Ex-manager.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Advices current today in cauliflower unpreferred and very common were to the effect that James Joseph Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world in several languages, has decided to return to first principles and Billy Gibson. The young man has been far away from both ever since he won the title last September but they say he has begun to think better of it.

Gibson was out like an ex-window as soon as Tunney discovered that he didn't like the day he had been managed into the heavyweight championship. He put Mr. Gibson on an allowance or something and placed his business affairs in the hands of Dudley Field Malone, the barrister who resolutely stationed himself in the bow of a tug and swam the channel in front of Gertrude Ederle.

Dudley is aboard at the moment arranging an exhibition tour for Tunney throughout England and Europe, but they say Gene may turn up quite absent on the dates specified. Dudley, in other words, may yet find himself completely surrounded by air, of which the supply seldom is exceeded by the demand.

Tunney already has mended one of his fences by re-establishing an entente cordiale with a man who split with him over the Gibson business. The intimation that the Tim Mara suit may be settled amicably also indicates a Tunney-Gibson reunion, since Mara was Gibson's friend first and Tunney's adviser afterward.

Tunney's theatrical tour will end March 19 and the word now is that he will head east immediately and go into light conditioning at Speculator, N. Y., where he started to work out for Dempsey. His haste to begin training would appear almost unseemly in view of the belief that Tunney lives the life of a monk.

He does, as a matter of comparison with other fighters, but the fact is that Tunney doesn't carry the thing to the extremes that popular fancy prefers. I know men with whom he has sipped a cocktail. Others have told me that he likes burgundy in moderation. His intimates relate that he drank a bottle of champagne after the Dempsey fight.

This data is not marshalled as an indictment. My reaction to the thought of Tunney sipping a cocktail is that the gentleman must be more human than his uptown manner would indicate. It is this picture of a paragon on a pedestal that has destroyed, as much as anything else, Tunney's chance of being an appealing figure with the public.

Persson too Lazy To Make Million; DeForest is Out

Swede Looked Good Until Work Got too Heavy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Did you ever hear the one about the man who was too lazy to make a million dollars? Laugh, now, and show your molars. Professor Jimmy de Forest has heard of him. James, in fact, knows him well; too well, perhaps.

For James is by profession, instinct and the sweat of his brow a developer and trainer of boxers and, in the course of human events, it is his custom to profit as a result of the association. That is what angers James now. He thought he had a million dollars worth of heavyweight Swede and then the next thing he knew all he had was a tired business man they called Harry Persson.

Harry, it seems, was so tired that he sat down to shave himself, leading the professor to wonder whether he was a Swede at all. I think the professor suspected he was a nephew of Sitting Bull.

It seems to be James' lot to get himself mixed up with pugilistic gentlemen who harbor an aversion for exercise. He handled Luis Firpo, the well-known human being, until the latter decided that all work and no play made Luis a bum fighter. He overestimated the situation, however. He always was a bum fighter.

The professor himself agrees that Persson was and is a better man than Firpo at any stage of course, in the ring. Outside the ropes, the records speak for themselves. Luis got the money and Harry got little or nothing beyond a punch in the nose from Jimmy Maloney. In both cases, the professor was short changed.

He admits, perforce, that Persson might never have reached the million dollar goal but at the same time he can't forget that, two months ago, the Swede's chances were no worse than the next man's.

However, that was two months ago. Today, Persson is no longer with us, having languidly accepted passage to Sweden. He simply was too bored with life to do himself any good.

"He wouldn't walk, he wouldn't run, he wouldn't box," says the professor in his best platform manner. His discourse seemed to be at an end. But suddenly inspiration seized him.

"He wouldn't even think," he added triumphantly.

The Little White Hag

BY FRANCIS BEEDING

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE.

For a while I surrendered to the luxury of being able to desist from further effort. I rested there in a kind of stupor with just enough sense to realize that I was cold and desperately hungry. My appetite had suddenly returned, which was not surprising, seeing that I had not eaten since the previous evening.

I do not know how long I remained in that position, but it must have been for some considerable time. I believe I was first startled into wakefulness by the abrupt ceasing of the storm and the silence which followed. I only know that when next I came to attention the noise of the rain on the roof had ceased and all was quiet. Then, suddenly, as I made a movement with the object of improving my position, I heard the sound of a door opening below me. Instantly I paused and remained motionless.

Someone was walking in the room beneath me. I heard footsteps and then the click of an electric switch. A moment later I was aware of a faint light coming upwards through little chinks and holes in the ceiling, and soon I was able to inspect my surroundings.

I found I was in some sort of attic between the ceiling and roof of the chalet. It struck me at once as curious that the chalet should have a ceiling at all, for from outside it had appeared, so far as I remembered, to be merely a building or byre for the housing of cows and sheep in the winter, and I should thus have expected it to be no more than a wooden shell with a stone floor.

I listened again. Footsteps crossed the room and for some considerable time the person below, whoever it might be, moved about as though engaged in setting the apartment in order. Chairs were moved, and I heard the rustle of papers and the opening and closing of cupboard doors.

The door opened and admitted someone.

I was now tingling with excitement and, bending down, concentrated all my efforts on endeavoring to catch what was said in the room below. No further word was spoken, however, but again I heard the rustling of papers.

Presently more footsteps approached from outside. Again there was a knock, again the passwords were exchanged and another newcomer joined the two beneath me. This procedure was repeated fourteen times altogether, in the course of the next half hour, each newcomer being required to repeat the same formula before being allowed to enter. There was an increasing murmur of conversation as the room filled up, and the voices were low and I could catch very little of what was said. It referred, as far as I could hear, only to two topics, the vileness of the weather and the motives which could have led the Center—his name was mentioned frequently throughout—to have summoned "us" (whoever "us" might be) at such an inconvenient place and time. A moment later, amidst a profound silence, I heard a voice I knew only too well.

"Be seated, gentlemen. I am sorry to have kept you waiting."

Immediately beneath me was the Center himself.

There was a short silence. Then I heard once more the rustle of papers and the Center's voice began again.

"I now call roll. Number 1."

A deep voice replied, "Present."

"Present."

This procedure was repeated thirteen times, the unknown individuals beneath me answering to their numbers by the single word "present." They pronounced it in every conceivable variety of accent, which led me to the conclusion that the company below was of various nationalities.

"Number 14" continued the Center, when the last unknown individual had replied (he was, I judge, a Welshman by his accent) "is ill, and sends the following telegram: 'Regret severe attack influenza has confined me to bed son have instructed my secretary, Aaron P. Lowenstein, to act for me.' I have, therefore, pleasure in presenting you with new colleague. We will now pass to adoption of agenda."

There was another pause and then a voice with a slight cockney accent which I could not identify took up the tale. The man was evidently reading rapidly from a paper.

"Agenda. Ninth session. 1. Reports of district heads. 2. Increased price of Persian opium. 3. The Chinese situation. 4. Offer from Finckelstein. 5. Other business."

I realized now what was happening. I had been lying in the chalet some hours; it was now past midnight and the beginning of a new day. That day was the fifteenth, the day to which the Center had constantly referred, and this was the meeting of directors to which he had alluded in his recent revelations; in other words, the "inner ring" of which mention had been made at the meeting of the Opium Committee of the League of Nations which I had attended a short time ago.

I was, in fact, the auditor of proceedings at which the police of many nations would have given untold gold to assist.

I strained my ears to lose no word of what was spoken. I had forgotten my fatigue and my hunger and the personal peril in which I stood.

"Any observations?" asked the Center. "No one ask to speak?" Then, as there was silence, he added, "Agenda adopted."

There was a tap as though a presidential gavel had struck the table.

For an hour or more after this I was listening to a series of concise verbal reports from all quarters of the world.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold weakens your resistance. If you let it "go down" into your chest it always causes congestion in your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

If you get pneumonia, call a doctor immediately. But if you have a threatening cold or cough—even bronchitis—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! End it before inflammation goes down into the "danger zone."

Quickly and unfailingly Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of trouble. Real Medicine, reaching deep with its healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes.

With the very first swallow of Cherry Pectoral you feel its comforting warmth. ## IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me.' Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Don't dope YOUR COUGH

It is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery.

PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time — and it is absolutely harmless.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE.

For a while I surrendered to the luxury of being able to desist from further effort. I rested there in a kind of stupor with just enough sense to realize that I was cold and desperately hungry. My appetite had suddenly returned, which was not surprising, seeing that I had not eaten since the previous evening.

I do not know how long I remained in that position, but it must have been for some considerable time. I believe I was first startled into wakefulness by the abrupt ceasing of the storm and the silence which followed. I only know that when next I came to attention the noise of the rain on the roof had ceased and all was quiet. Then, suddenly, as I made a movement with the object of improving my position, I heard the sound of a door opening below me. Instantly I paused and remained motionless.

Someone was walking in the room beneath me. I heard footsteps and then the click of an electric switch. A moment later I was aware of a faint light coming upwards through little chinks and holes in the ceiling, and soon I was able to inspect my surroundings.

I found I was in some sort of attic

between the ceiling and roof of the chalet. It struck me at once as curious that the chalet should have a ceiling at all, for from outside it had appeared, so far as I remembered, to be merely a building or byre for the housing of cows and sheep in the winter, and I should thus have expected it to be no more than a wooden shell with a stone floor.

I listened again. Footsteps crossed the room and for some considerable time the person below, whoever it might be, moved about as though engaged in setting the apartment in order. Chairs were moved, and I heard the rustle of papers and the opening and closing of cupboard doors.

The door opened and admitted someone.

I was now tingling with excitement and, bending down, concentrated all my efforts on endeavoring to catch what was said in the room below. No further word was spoken, however, but again I heard the rustling of papers.

Presently more footsteps approached from outside. Again there was a knock, again the passwords were exchanged and another newcomer joined the two beneath me. This procedure was repeated fourteen times altogether, in the course of the next half hour, each newcomer being required to repeat the same formula before being allowed to enter. There was an increasing murmur of conversation as the room filled up, and the voices were low and I could catch very little of what was said. It referred, as far as I could hear, only to two topics, the vileness of the weather and the motives which could have led the Center—his name was mentioned frequently throughout—to have summoned "us" (whoever "us" might be) at such an inconvenient place and time. A moment later, amidst a profound silence, I heard a voice I knew only too well.

"Be seated, gentlemen. I am sorry to have kept you waiting."

Immediately beneath me was the Center himself.

There was a short silence. Then I heard once more the rustle of papers and the Center's voice began again.

"I now call roll. Number 1."

"Present."

This procedure was repeated thirteen times, the unknown individuals beneath me answering to their numbers by the single word "present." They pronounced it in every conceivable variety of accent, which led me to the conclusion that the company below was of various nationalities.

"Number 14," continued the Center, when the last unknown individual had replied (he was, I judge, a Welshman by his accent) "is ill, and sends the following telegram: 'Regret severe attack influenza has confined me to bed soon have instructed my secretary, Aaron P. Lowenstein, to act for me.' I have, therefore, pleasure in presenting you with new colleague. We will now pass to adoption of agenda."

There was another pause and then a voice with a slight cockney accent which I could not identify took up the tale. The man was evidently reading rapidly from a paper.

"Agenda Ninth session. 1. Reports of district heads. 2. Increased price of Persian opium. 3. The Chinese situation. 4. Offer from Finckelstein. 5. Other business."

I realized now what was happening. I had been lying in the chalet some hours; it was now past midnight and the beginning of a new day. That day was the fifteenth, the day to which the Center had constantly referred, and this was the meeting of directors to which he had alluded in his recent revelations; in other words, the "inner ring" of which mention had been made at the meeting of the Opium Committee of the League of Nations which I had attended a short time ago.

Proposed Bus Legislation

The Review-Tribune has been very friendly in the past in its recognition of the value of bus lines to the public where there is need of them, but we have not favored them where adequate service is being rendered by steam and electric lines, and this is our position today. Bus lines in territory not otherwise supplied with passengers transportation are desirable. The field for such transportation is wide and the magnitude possible of attainment by it can hardly be more than guessed at today. But the paralleling of steam and electric lines by bus lines is unfair—unfair to both rail lines and bus lines alike—for such a division of business as it is bound to entail can hardly be profitable to any line affected by it.

At present bus lines are under the supervision of the state utilities commission, which has taken much the same position as herein set forth in the protection of steam and electric lines, moved so to do probably by the fact that the steam and electric lines are heavy taxpayers operating over their own rights-of-way which must be maintained by them at their own great expense, while the bus lines are operating over the highways of Ohio, built and maintained at public expense. The utility commission decides if there is necessity for bus lines, where and when they may establish services, when they may merge with other lines and when they may abandon their services. As the commission has supervision over steam and electric lines running over their own right-of-way, it is not unfair that it should also have supervision as the agent of the public, over the bus lines which operate over the highways of the public, but it is apparent that the bus lines are seeking to get outside of and away from this supervision.

There is proposed legislation pending in the state legislature, which seems to have decided strength behind it, which, it has been openly charged at committee hearings, would take bus lines from the supervision of the state utilities commission and enable them to establish routes where and when they may desire, merge lines when and with whom they desire, and abandon service whenever they may desire.

If the proposed measure being considered by the senate and hause can be utilized as charged, the latitude of the power to be conferred by it is so great that some restraining influence to curb abuses seems to us to be imperative. It gives far too much power to the bus people with comparatively little at stake and takes far too much away from the people of Ohio, who have been forced to expend their millions to construct and maintain paved highways and are still being forced to spend other millions by the score to construct and maintain still other highways.

The general assembly should exercise caution in the consideration of the proposed measure.

Doughboys Abroad

France is making elaborate preparations for welcoming and entertaining the American Legionnaires when they go to Paris for their convention next summer. There will be ample accommodations for them in the gay capital, and every facility for revisiting the scenes where they fought and suffered.

England, too, is getting into the game, though it isn't England's party. There is a "Come to Britain" organization, making special inducements for the doughboys to visit that country. They will find it easier to get into England, and easy to get around when there. Not the least of the attractions offered to lure them is the opportunity of attending summer schools at the universities. English colleges will compete with the Paris boulevards for their patronage.

Europe may dislike America, but there need be no fear of that dislike being visited upon the American soldiers. Memory of the help they brought in a time of great trouble, and the spirit in which they brought it, will revive at the sight of them. They are good ambassadors. Their presence abroad may bring a fairer, kindlier feeling toward their country.

Obstacles to Disarmament

France thinks disarmament ought to be managed by the League of Nations, with 40 countries participating instead of only four or five.

That is all right—if the 40 will do it. It matters little through what agency the disarmament is effected. The essential thing is to disarm, before arms competition results in another international blow-up. The United States should have no difficulty in co-operating with the League for such a purpose.

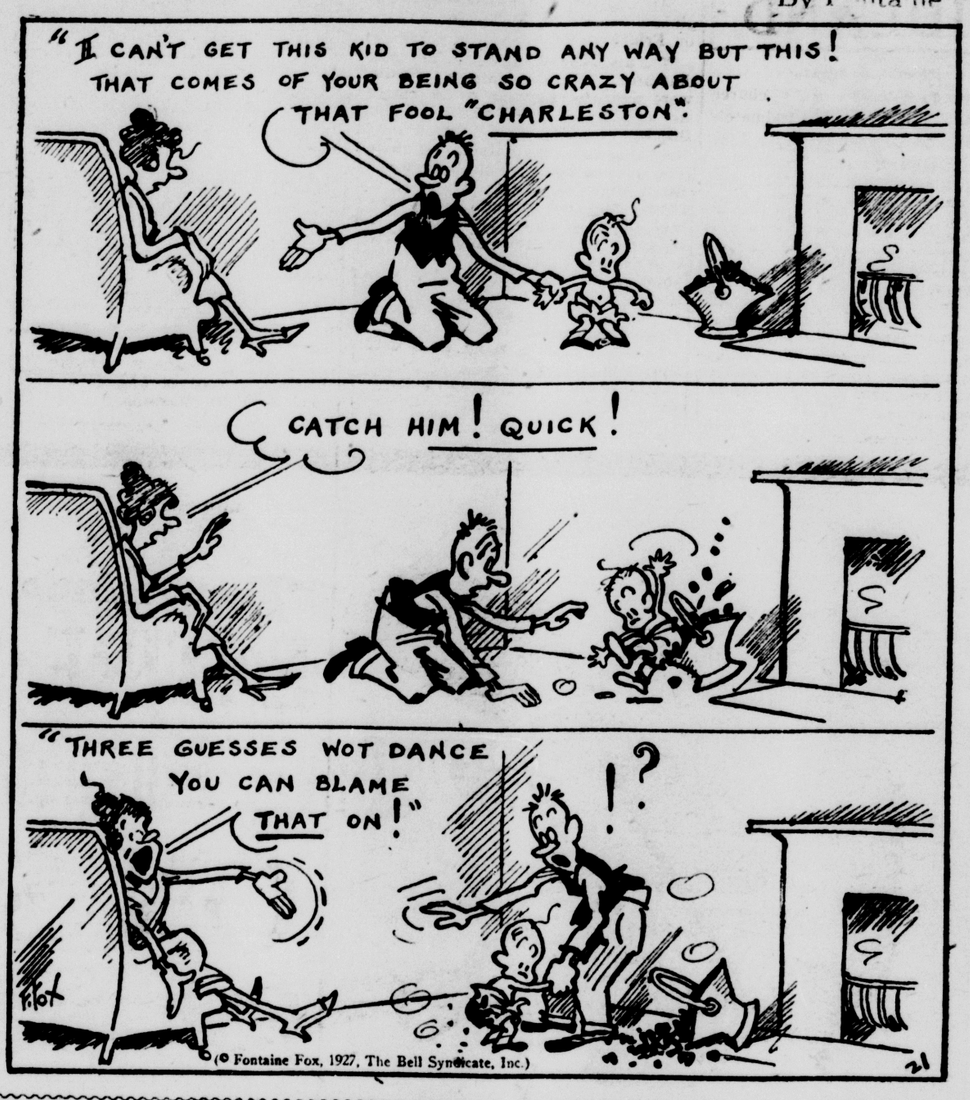

The real obstacle to disarmament may be Italy, which also refuses the American invitation to an arms conference. France obviously fears Italy, and hesitates accordingly to restrict her military power. The news suggests sound reasons for that attitude.

"Throughout Italy," says a recent cable, "arsenals and munition factories are working at high pressure. There are big orders for machine guns and tanks, for gun sights and army unifoms, for shells and cartridges. Italy is getting ready."

Just what the preparation is for, nobody seems to know for certain. It may be a new Balkan war, an invasion of the Near East, or something else. Every foreign office in Europe is disturbed by it.

If Geneva can curb Italy now, as it did when Mussolini started to attack Greece a couple of years ago, there may be a chance for real progress in disarmament.

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

BASED ON THE CURRENCY SYSTEMS

The late Charles E. Van Loan, a splendid story-teller in his own right and equally adept as a story-writer, used to love to tell this one:

An ambitious promoter undertook to stage a prize-fight between two heavyweights at a little Mexican town just over the national boundary from California. The fight was advertised to go for twenty rounds.

From both sides of the line a great crowd gathered, the majority of those present being Mexicans.

A somewhat inexperienced but quick-witted Texan acted as referee. It subsequently developed that, contrary to the ethics, the referee had a private bet on one of the scrappers. Midway of the fight, it appeared highly probably that his favorite shortly would be knocked out and so, to save his money, the referee, declared the bout a draw and ended it right there.

Enraged and disappointed, the audience rose up, shouting threats. The native contingent was especially vociferous. A first-class riot was threatened.

But the imperiled referee had a smart notion in reserve. By waving his arms and shouting that he had a statement to make, he secured comparative silence. Then he made his announcement and it proved eminently satisfactory. The Americans present saw the point of the joke; the Mexicans were appeased because the explanation seemed to them perfectly sound.

"Gentlemen," the referee said, "this was advertised as a twenty round fight and that's exactly what it's been—twenty rounds Mex. or ten rounds American."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early abroad to breakfast and so famished I wolfed a chine of beef and there arose talk of a white novelist spending much time with negroes of Harlem. And it was said he had cast his lot with them.

So home to read my mail and Lord! the bills and Leon Errol, the comic, came with this drollery and that and mighty spruce, too, in tweeds with a green stripe. Afterward to a recital of songs, which seemed dull to my toneless ears.

In the evening to Lee Olwell's and saw movies he had taken of burials in the Ganges and stopped to see Nell and Gene Crawley, but they away, so I sat in their reception hall waiting and slept until 11 o'clock. So home to bed.

New York has colonies of nearly all nations—save the Mexican. They do not migrate far from border towns. A few years ago a small Mexican colony sprung up along upper Fifth avenue. They were mostly laborers, but tarried briefly. The Mexican among aliens will insist he is Spanish and they drifted to that section.

In a straggly Brooklyn street there are two Eskimo families. They came to town with various explorers and did not return north again. One of them, fittingly enough, is the driver of an ice wagon. There are many Japanese in New York, but they do not segregate.

While some are valets, waiters and chauffeurs, the great majority are well off financially and are connected with importing houses or specialty stores. They seek the best neighborhoods and live in an opulent manner above the average.

It is noticed that on Sundays or holidays many well dressed Japanese roam about, snapping kodak pictures. This often gives rise to spy gossip. A Japanese tells me it is common custom among natives of his land, wherever they go, and means nothing. Perhaps so. But Japan frowns on the same thing.

Some 200 New York girls have married Japanese during the past 10 years. Almost invariably the Nipponese select the fragile type of blonde. As a rule such a marriage severs Occidental ties and wives live in isolation. There is a red-haired telephone girl who married a Japanese and after his death in the Yokohoma earthquake married a Chinese restaurateur.

Eddie Cantor is the latest star to desert New York for Hollywood. The stage will not see him for many years. He has bought a 14-room home on the west coast and moved his family there. Cantor came out of the grim tenements of Grand street to make Broadway laugh, but has not forgotten those left behind. Each year he gladly pays the check for a two weeks' outing for the boys and girls of his own neighborhood, denied the youthful pleasures for which Cantor, too, once longed.

It is proposed to call the preening Peacock Alley of a new hotel "The Corral." The original Peacock Alley was that in the historic Waldorf. A statistician has found there are 29 hotel promenades similarly named in various parts of the world. There is even a Peacock Alley in a dinky little inn in Uganda.

The latest in psychological potpourri is on upper Broadway where a sign proclaims: "We cure timidity." It would be a joy to have some of the shy darlings of the hat check rooms matriculate there.

The average New Yorker is of the opinion that timidity, if any, is a virtue that should be left entirely alone. We have few enough shrinking violets in this shin kicking hamlet.

Another sign on upper Broadway: "Baby carriage pushers for hire by the hour." And the explanation is a half block away, where another sign reads: "No bridge scholars taken for six weeks. All classes are filled."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Fruits From the Orient.

WASHINGTON, DD. C., Feb. 21—Persimmons that average four inches in diameter and that may be stored out of doors in winter conditions of snow and ice, unprotected save for a light covering of straw mats, supplemented by a loose hay, straw, litter or corn stalks may be produced in the United States in years to come. At least, cuttings from which the trees that bear them may be grown are among the treasure trove which agricultural explorer P. H. Dorsett, office of plant introduction, Federal Bureau of Plant Industry, is bringing back from the Orient, where he spent two and a half years in China and the tropical islands of Sumatra, Java and Ceylon.

Mr. Dorsett's mission was to find plants that might be useful in American agriculture, and he made thousands of selections of seeds, plants, scions, bulbs, tubers and cuttings.

This plant material will be inspected carefully to make sure that it is free from pests and disease and will then be grown for a time in detention as a further precaution lest objectionable pests be introduced into this country. Then it will be distributed among government scientists, state experimental stations, and other experimental gardens to determine its adaptability to our conditions of soil and climate, its possible use for breeding work, and its other qualities. It may be a decade or more before the public gets the benefit of all this work, but in the end, past experience indicates, something of great value will come out of it.

The persimmons mentioned were found in northern China. It is believed that the manner in which they were stored there, corded up in great beds to a depth of six fruits along the terraced river banks, in orchards, and in the gravelly river beds, is not duplicated any place else in the world. ## Proposed Bus Legislation

The Review-Tribune has been very friendly in the past in its recognition of the value of bus lines to the public where there is need of them, but we have not favored them where adequate service is being rendered by steam and electric lines, and this is our position today. Bus lines in territory not otherwise supplied with passengers transportation are desirable. The field for such transportation is wide and the magnitude possible of attainment by it can hardly be more than guessed at today. But the paralleling of steam and electric lines by bus lines is unfair—unfair to both rail lines and bus lines alike—for such a division of business as it is bound to entail can hardly be profitable to any line affected by it.

At present bus lines are under the supervision of the state utilities commission, which has taken much the same position as herein set forth in the protection of steam and electric lines, moved so to do probably by the fact that the steam and electric lines are heavy taxpayers operating over their own rights-of-way which must be maintained by them at their own great expense, while the bus lines are operating over the highways of Ohio, built and maintained at public expense. The utility commission decides if there is necessity for bus lines, where and when they may establish services, when they may merge with other lines and when they may abandon their services. As the commission has supervision over steam and electric lines running over their own right-of-way, it is not unfair that it should also have supervision as the agent of the public, over the bus lines which operate over the highways of the public, but it is apparent that the bus lines are seeking to get outside of and away from this supervision.

There is proposed legislation pending in the state legislature, which seems to have decided strength behind it, which, it has been openly charged at committee hearings, would take bus lines from the supervision of the state utilities commission and enable them to establish routes where and when they may desire, merge lines when and with whom they desire, and abandon service whenever they may desire.

If the proposed measure being considered by the senate and hause can be utilized as charged, the latitude of the power to be conferred by it is so great that some restraining influence to curb abuses seems to us to be imperative. It gives far too much power to the bus people with comparatively little at stake and takes far too much away from the people of Ohio, who have been forced to expend their millions to construct and maintain paved highways and are still being forced to spend other millions by the score to construct and maintain still other highways.

The general assembly should exercise caution in the consideration of the proposed measure.

Doughboys Abroad

France is making elaborate preparations for welcoming and entertaining the American Legionnaires when they go to Paris for their convention next summer. There will be ample accommodations for them in the gay capital, and every facility for revisiting the scenes where they fought and suffered.

England, too, is getting into the game, though it isn't England's party. There is a "Come to Britain" organization, making special inducements for the doughboys to visit that country. They will find it easier to get into England, and easy to get around when there. Not the least of the attractions offered to lure them is the opportunity of attending summer schools at the universities. English colleges will compete with the Paris boulevards for their patronage.

Europe may dislike America, but there need be no fear of that dislike being visited upon the American soldiers. Memory of the help they brought in a time of great trouble, and the spirit in which they brought it, will revive at the sight of them. They are good ambassadors. Their presence abroad may bring a fairer, kindlier feeling toward their country.

Obstacles to Disarmament

France thinks disarmament ought to be managed by the League of Nations, with 40 countries participating instead of only four or five.

That is all right—if the 40 will do it. It matters little through what agency the disarmament is effected. The essential thing is to disarm, before arms competition results in another international blow-up. The United States should have no difficulty in co-operating with the League for such a purpose.

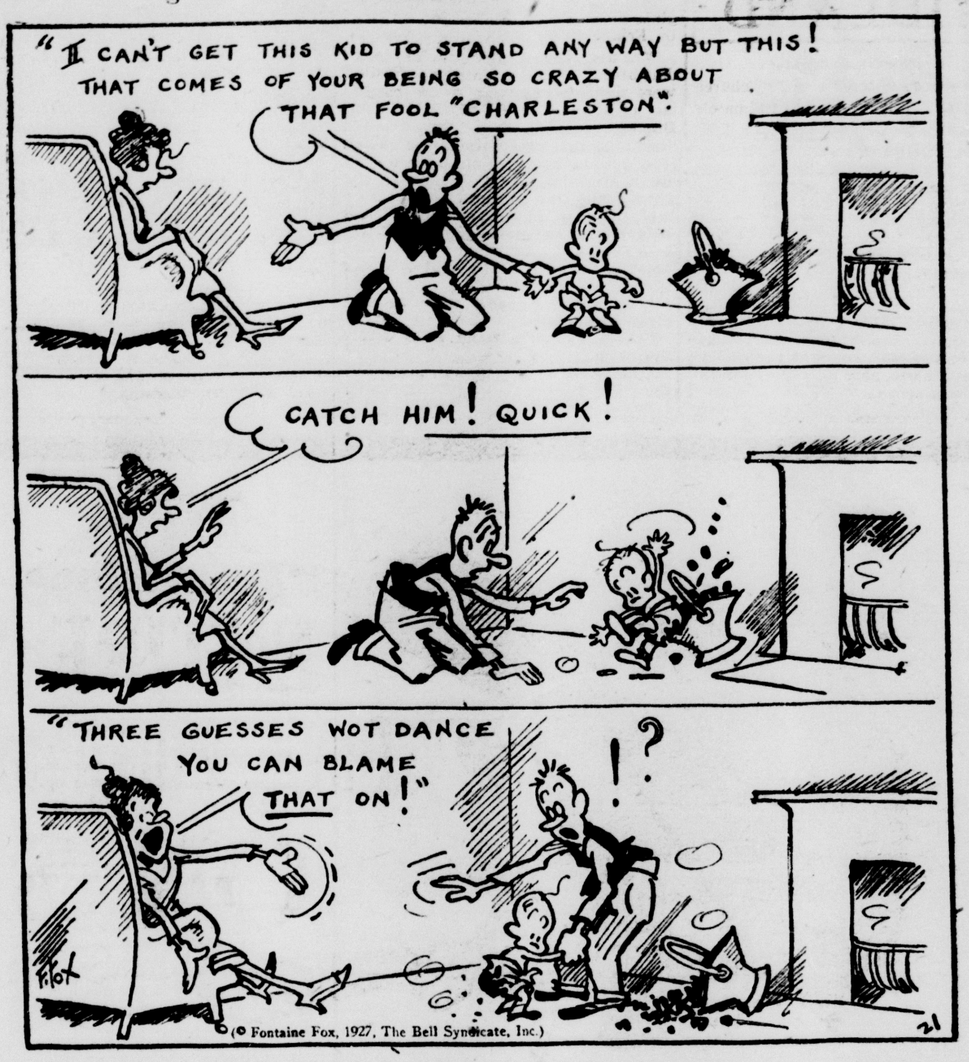

The real obstacle to disarmament may be Italy, which also refuses the American invitation to an arms conference. France obviously fears Italy, and hesitates accordingly to restrict her military power. The news suggests sound reasons for that attitude.

"Throughout Italy," says a recent cable, "arsenals and munition factories are working at high pressure. There are big orders for machine guns and tanks, for gun sights and army unifoms, for shells and cartridges. Italy is getting ready."

Just what the preparation is for, nobody seems to know for certain. It may be a new Balkan war, an invasion of the Near East, or something else. Every foreign office in Europe is disturbed by it.

If Geneva can curb Italy now, as it did when Mussolini started to attack Greece a couple of years ago, there may be a chance for real progress in disarmament.

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

BASED ON THE CURRENCY SYSTEMS

The late Charles E. Van Loan, a splendid story-teller in his own right and equally adept as a story-writer, used to love to tell this one:

An ambitious promoter undertook to stage a prize-fight between two heavyweights at a little Mexican town just over the national boundary from California. The fight was advertised to go for twenty rounds.

From both sides of the line a great crowd gathered, the majority of those present being Mexicans.

A somewhat inexperienced but quick-witted Texan acted as referee. It subsequently developed that, contrary to the ethics, the referee had a private bet on one of the scrappers. Midway of the fight, it appeared highly probably that his favorite shortly would be knocked out and so, to save his money, the referee, declared the bout a draw and ended it right there.

Enraged and disappointed, the audience rose up, shouting threats. The native contingent was especially vociferous. A first-class riot was threatened.

But the imperiled referee had a smart notion in reserve. By waving his arms and shouting that he had a statement to make, he secured compartive silence. Then he made his announcement and it proved eminently satisfactory. The Americans present saw the point of the joke; the Mexicans were appeased because the explanation seemed to them perfectly sound.

"Gentlemen," the referee said, "this was advertised as a twenty round fight and that's exactly what it's been—twenty rounds Mex. or ten rounds American."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early abroad to breakfast and so famished I wolfed a chine of beef and there arose talk of a white novelist spending much time with negroes of Harlem. And it was said he had cast his lot with them.

So home to read my mail and Lord! the bills and Leon Errol, the comic, came with this drollery and that and mighty spruce, too, in tweeds with a green stripe. Afterward to a recital of songs, which seemed dull to my toneless ears.

In the evening to Lee Olwell's and saw movies he had taken of burials in the Ganges and stopped to see Nell and Gene Crawley, but they away, so I sat in their reception hall waiting and slept until 11 o'clock. So home to bed.

New York has colonies of nearly all nations—save the Mexican. They do not migrate far from border towns. A few years ago a small Mexican colony sprung up along upper Fifth avenue. They were mostly laborers, but tarried briefly. The Mexican among aliens will insist he is Spanish and they drifted to that section.

In a straggly Brooklyn street there are two Eskimo families. They came to town with various explorers and did not return north again. One of them, fittingly enough, is the driver of an ice wagon. There are many Japanese in New York, but they do not segregate.

While some are valets, waiters and chauffeurs, the great majority are well off financially and are connected with importing houses or specialty stores. They seek the best neighborhoods and live in an opulent manner above the average.

It is noticed that on Sundays or holidays many well dressed Japanese roam about, snapping kodak pictures. This often gives rise to spy gossip. A Japanese tells me it is common custom among natives of his land, wherever they go, and means nothing. Perhaps so. But Japan frowns on the same thing.

Some 200 New York girls have married Japanese during the past 10 years. Almost invariably the Nipponese select the fragile type of blonde. As a rule such a marriage severs Occidental ties and wives live in isolation. There is a red-haired telephone girl who married a Japanese and after his death in the Yokohoma earthquake married a Chinese restaurateur.

Eddie Cantor is the latest star to desert New York for Hollywood. The stage will not see him for many years. He has bought a 14-room home on the west coast and moved his family there. Cantor came out of the grim tenements of Grand street to make Broadway laugh, but has not forgotten those left behind. Each year he gladly pays the check for a two weeks' outing for the boys and girls of his own neighborhood, denied the youthful pleasures for which Cantor, too, once longed.

It is proposed to call the preening Peacock Alley of a new hotel "The Corral." The original Peacock Alley was that in the historic Waldorf. A statistician has found there are 29 hotel promenades similarly named in various parts of the world. There is even a Peacock Alley in a dinky little inn in Uganda.

The latest in psychological potpourri is on upper Broadway where a sign proclaims: "We cure timidity." It would be a joy to have some of the shy darlings of the hat check rooms matriculate there.

The average New Yorker is of the opinion that timidity, if any, is a virtue that should be left entirely alone. We have few enough shrinking violets in this shin kicking hamlet.

Another sign on upper Broadway: "Baby carriage pushers for hire by the hour." And the explanation is a half block away, where another sign reads: "No bridge scholars taken for six weeks. All classes are filled."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Fruits From the Orient.

WASHINGTON, DD. C., Feb. 21—Persimmons that average four inches in diameter and that may be stored out of doors in winter conditions of snow and ice, unprotected save for a light covering of straw mats, supplemented by a loose hay, straw, litter or corn stalks may be produced in the United States in years to come. At least, cuttings from which the trees that bear them may be grown are among the treasure trove which agricultural explorer P. H. Dorsett, office of plant introduction, Federal Bureau of Plant Industry, is bringing back from the Orient, where he spent two and a half years in China and the tropical islands of Sumatra, Java and Ceylon.

Mr. Dorsett's mission was to find plants that might be useful in American agriculture, and he made thousands of selections of seeds, plants, scions, bulbs, tubers and cuttings.

This plant material will be inspected carefully to make sure that it is free from pests and disease and will then be grown for a time in detention as a further precaution lest objectionable pests be introduced into this country. Then it will be distributed among government scientists, state experimental stations, and other experimental gardens to determine its adaptability to our conditions of soil and climate, its possible use for breeding work, and its other qualities. It may be a decade or more before the public gets the benefit of all this work, but in the end, past experience indicates, something of great value will come out of it.

The persimmons mentioned were found in northern China. It is believed that the manner in which they were stored there, corded up in great beds to a depth of six fruits along the terraced river banks, in orchards, and in the gravelly river beds, is not duplicated any place else in the world. The size of the fruit is also exceptional, but the scientists do not testify as yet as to how palatable it is. Obviously there is a lot of pucker in a persimmon four inches in diameter.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

Mexican Controversy Eases Pani's Selection Soothing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. — Ex-Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani of Mexico, who comes to the United States, so it's reliably reported, to confer, as President Calles' representative, with American companies which have oil interests south of the Rio Grande, is a queer individual for a president supposedly as stiff necked a radical as Calle to send on such a mission.

Alberto J. Pani

Not that Pani is "persona non grata" with American "big interests." On the contrary they like him very well indeed. That's just why it seems so odd that Calles chose him to talk business with them.

True, Pani was Calles' minister of finance for a space, but that was because he's a capable financier. Calles had to have a good one, so he put up with Pani, who has interests of his own in Mexico which he didn't want to see jeopardized by a crash put up with Calles, too, to prevent a national crisis if he could.

Pani never pretended to be in sympathy with the present Mexico City administration. He would have been a good deal more at home in the old Diaz regime. Calles never took off his hot to anything about Pani except his financial-acumen.

Even at that, Pani was so far out of harmony with his surroundings that finally he resigned and was appointed ambassador to France, as everybody assumed to get him out of the way.

And here he turns up on this side of the border with Calles' authority to see what he can do with the American oil men.

In Mexico City, as minister of finance, Pani simply was a super-clerk who thoroughly knew his job but was all the time under Calles' thumb. As a negotiator abroad, he certainly will have to have a fairly free hand, if he's to do any good.

To be sure, he hasn't diplomatic authority. He can make no bargain with Secretary of State Kellogg. Still, it would be a waste of time to dispatch him to see even the oil men unless Calles pays some attention to what he reports. Nobody can doubt that he'll report some compromise in favor of the oil men and Calles has insisted hitherto that he wouldn't yield an inch.

Naturally there's a good deal of wondering in Washington if the Mexican president isn't thinking now of giving a little ground.

There are respects in which Pani's a good man for his mission.

The American oil men and their bankers recognize in him a kindred spirit, with whom they won't be uppish and domineering, as they've inclined to be with Calles.

He can talk turkey with them and tell them just what, in his opinion, they can't get short of fighting for it. And they'll believe him, for they know Pani doesn't want war. At the first sign of an armed clash between the United States and Mexico, his investments in Mexico would go smash.

So he certainly will be an influence for peace.

Many say that Pani was Gen. Obregon's choice, not Calles'.

Obregon was president before Calles. He virtually made Calles his successor. Most folk think Calles will make Obregon his successor in turn. The Mexican constitution having been fixed so he can.

Obregon says no, he doesn't want to be president again but few are convinced. At any rate, he has a strong pull in Mexico City, and Pani saw him before he left for New York.

Haskin's Letter

ward of 9,000,000 acres in that region is devoted to the crop. Approximately 4,000,000 acres of soy beans were grown in the United States last year as the result of previous importations. It is hoped that among the new varieties will be found some that are adaptable to sections of the country to which the crop is as yet a stranger.

Mung beans constitute another staple crop in Manchuria and in many parts of China proper which is of coming economic importance in the United States, says the senior Mr. Dorsett. In their native country they are used as mung bean sprouts and are an important source of the best bean vermicelli. Mr. Dorsett believes there is a place for the mung bean in this country and that we should grow more of the crop.

Sixty per cent of the barley grown in the United States is the result of one introduction from Manchuria, and many varieties of barley were included in the Dorsett collection. Ultimately more than 500 seed packets of wheat, barley, soy beans and other grains from northern Manchuria will be received.

This is a region where agricultural explorers have never been able to penetrate. No railroads enter it, and mail, which is carried by foot runners, may be several months on the way. Through the cooperation of the postal commissioner of Manchuria, samples of the major crops enumerated are being obtained from the areas served by each of th 500 rural postal stations. Many packets of seeds have already been received and others are coming in constantly.

When the collection is finally accumulated it will be a valuable source of new plant material for selection and plant-breeding purposes, and one that was made at very little cost to the United States so far as cost of plant material is concerned.

They may be being rough to foreigners in China these days, but the Dorsetts were certainly accorded any thing but that kind of treatment. For example, their expedition was materially aided by the Chinese Eastern Railroad, through the cooperation of the chief of the land department, M. K. Gordeyeff—another Russian, by the way—who placed at the disposal of the explorers, free of expense, a private car completely equipped with living quarters. They were thus able to travel from station to station, making stops of a week or more to travel on foot into the interior.

WHY DO YOU OVERLOOK CATARRH?

People who are not well are very likely to have catarrh as the real cause. Sometimes the only apparent symptom is a congestion in the nose and throat, but in these cases, if the sufferer could only see the real difficulty, the disease has extended to the stomach and bowels. There it is shown by constipation, torpid liver and often kidney touble.

Real Cause of Sickness

Why shouldn't it be? Practically every fluid that aids in digestion or excretion must pass through mucous membrane. How can these fluids be right when they must go through the stagnant inflammation we call catarrh?

But usually we treat the other symptoms. We use violent cathartics, we whip the liver and we take so-called aids to digestion. Sometimes they help a little, but it always comes back to this—we must clear up the catarrh before we can be well.

That is jusy why World's Tonic is so valuable. This wonderful remedy not only tones up the whole body, enriches the blood and steadies the nerves, but it also gets at the cause—the catarrh that is poisoning the whole body. When that is gone, the body itself will take care of the symptoms. Get rid of the cause. Take World's Tonic. You will know you are on the right course when you take the first bottle.

Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville and all other reliable druggists. (203.)

Mexican Controversy Eases Pani's Selection Soothing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. — Ex-Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani of Mexico, who comes to the United States, so it's reliably reported, to confer, as President Calles' representative, with American companies which have oil interests south of the Rio Grande, is a queer individual for a president supposedly as stiff necked a radical as Calle to send on such a mission.

Alberto J. Pani

Not that Pani is "persona non grata" with American "big interests." On the contrary they like him very well indeed. That's just why it seems so odd that Calles chose him to talk business with them.

True, Pani was Calles' minister of finance for a space, but that was because he's a capable financier. Calles had to have a good one, so he put up with Pani, who has interests of his own in Mexico which he didn't want to see jeopardized by a crash put up with Calles, too, to prevent a national crisis if he could.

Pani never pretended to be in sympathy with the present Mexico City administration. He would have been a good deal more at home in the old Diaz regime. Calles never took off his hot to anything about Pani except his financial-acumen.

Even at that, Pani was so far out of harmony with his surroundings that finally he resigned and was appointed ambassador to France, as everybody assumed to get him out of the way.

And here he turns up on this side of the border with Calles' authority to see what he can do with the American oil men.

In Mexico City, as minister of finance, Pani simply was a super-clerk who thoroughly knew his job but was all the time under Calles' thumb. As a negotiator abroad he certainly will have to have a fairly free hand, if he's to do any good.

To be sure, he hasn't diplomatic authority. He can make no bargain with Secretary of State Kellogg. Still, it would be a waste of time to dispatch him to see even the oil men unless Calles pays some attention to what he reports. Nobody can doubt that he'll report some compromise in favor of the oil men and Calles has insisted hitherto that he wouldn't yield an inch.

Naturally there's a good deal of wondering in Washington if the Mexican president isn't thinking now of giving a little ground.

There are respects in which Pani's a good man for his mission.

The American oil men and their bankers recognize in him a kindred spirit, with whom they won't be uppish and domineering, as they've inclined to be with Calles.

He can talk turkey with them and tell them just what, in his opinion, they can't get short of fighting for it. And they'll believe him, for they know Pani doesn't want war. At the first sign of an armed clash between the United States and Mexico, his investments in Mexico would go smash.

So he certainly will be an influence for peace.

Many say that Pani was Gen. Obregon's choice, not Calles'.

Obregon was president before Calles. He virtually made Calles his successor. Most folk think Calles will make Obregon his successor in turn. The Mexican constitution having been fixed so he can.

Obregon says no, he doesn't want to be president again but few are convinced. At any rate, he has a strong pull in Mexico City, and Pani saw him before he left for New York.

Haskin's Letter

ward of 9,000,000 acres in that region is devoted to the crop. Approximately 4,000,000 acres of soy beans were grown in the United States last year as the result of previous importations. It is hoped that among the new varieties will be found some that are adaptable to sections of the country to which the crop is as yet a stranger.

Mung beans constitute another staple crop in Manchuria and in many parts of China proper which is of coming economic importance in the United States, says the senior Mr. Dorsett. In their native country they are used as mung bean sprouts and are an important source of the best bean vermicelli. Mr. Dorsett believes there is a place for the mung bean in this country and that we should grow more of the crop.

Sixty per cent of the barley grown in the United States is the result of one introduction from Manchuria, and many varieties of barley were included in the Dorsett collection. Ultimately more than 500 seed packets of wheat, barley, soy beans and other grains from northern Manchuria will be received.

This is a region where agricultural explorers have never been able to penetrate. No railroads enter it, and mail, which is carried by foot runners, may be several months on the way. Through the cooperation of the postal commissioner of Manchuria, samples of the major crops enumerated are being obtained from the areas served by each of th 500 rural postal stations. Many packets of seeds have already been received and others are coming in constantly.

When the collection is finally accumulated it will be a valuable source of new plant material for selection and plant-breeding purposes, and one that was made at very little cost to the United States so far as cost of plant material is concerned.

They may be being rough to foreigners in China these days, but the Dorsetts were certainly accorded any thing but that kind of treatment. For example, their expedition was materially aided by the Chinese Eastern Railroad, through the cooperation of the chief of the land department, M. K. Gordeyeff—another Russian, by the way—who placed at the disposal of the explorers, free of expense, a private car completely equipped with living quarters. They were thus able to travel from station to station, making stops of a week or more to travel on foot into the interior.

It's a wonder it has never occurred to President Coolidge to put one over on the senate by forbidding it to do something he wants done.—Marion Star.

WHY DO YOU OVERLOOK CATARRH?

People who are not well are very likely to have catarrh as the real cause. Sometimes the only apparent symptom is a congestion in the nose and throat, but in these cases, if the sufferer could only see the real difficulty, the disease has extended to the stomach and bowels. There it is shown by constipation, torpid liver and often kidney touble.

Real Cause of Sickness

Why shouldn't it be? Practically every fluid that aids in digestion or excretion must pass through mucous membrane. How can these fluids be right when they must go through the stagnant inflammation we call catarrh?

But usually we treat the other symptoms. We use violent cathartics, we whip the liver and we take so-called aids to digestion. Sometimes they help a little, but it always comes back to this—we must clear up the catarrh before we can be well.

That is jusy why World's Tonic is so valuable. This wonderful remedy not only tones up the whole body, enriches the blood and steadies the nerves, but it also gets at the cause—the catarrh that is poisoning the whole body. When that is gone, the body itself will take care of the symptoms. Get rid of the cause. Take World's Tonic. You will know you are on the right course when you take the first bottle.

Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville and all other reliable druggists. (203.)

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Tragedy Prevents

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Manticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

WEIRTON FREIGHT BUSINESS CLIMBS

Freight Agent P. K. Webner, of the Weirton Pennsylvania freight office, reports that business both on incoming and outgoing freight for the month of January, 1927, shows an increase of 25 per cent over that of the same month in 1926. Mr. Webner also reports that the present month would likely show a decided increase over January, due to a growth in business in Weirton.

Improvements at the Weirton Junction yards for the present year will include the construction of additional tracks. Workmen are now busily engaged at the Junction in making fills, preparatory to the laying of new tracks.

Work during the past two years at the Junction by the Foley Construction company of Pittsburgh, included the laying of 1,100 ties nad several miles of new rails. The company is now engaged in completing their work, which is expected during the coming summer.

Construction work by the Pennsylvania company in and about Weirton is expected to continue, with the building expansion of the Weirton Steel company, which will increase business considerably during the next two years, with the completion of the new strip steel addition.

BREAK IS REPORTED BETWEEN NORTH CHINA ALLIES

60 AGITATORS DECAPITATED IN SHANGHAI

Bodies of Beheaded Men on Display as Warning.

NEW PUSH LOOMS

Reign of Terror Shows No Signs of Abating.

LONDON, Feb. 21. — Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that an agreement has been signed between Owen O'Malley, British charge in China, and Eugene Chen, Nationalist foreign minister, relative to the future administration of Hankow, a British concession.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21.—While the Cantonese continue their push against Shanghai, reports were received today of a definite break between the northern allies, who are operating against the Cantonese.

Despite the appeal of Chank Tso Lin to Wu Pei Fu for cooperation, it was reported today that Wu Pei Fu has decided not to permit Chang Tso Lin's forces to enter Honan in their march against the Cantonese.

A large detachment of Chang Tso Lin's forces is reported to have been disarmed by Wu Pei Fu, when they attempted to cross the frontier into Honan.

Ammunition trains belonging to Chang Tso Lin have also been seized by Wu Pei Fu.

Despite the drizzling rain crowds of morbid Chinese today continued to gather in the street and gaze upon the gruesome sight of their decapitated fellow countrymen.

Sixty alleged Chinese agitators, who have been decapitated, are now on display in the streets of Shanghai as a terrible warning of the fate that befalls those who attempt disorders.

Police Behead Victims.

The reign of terror begun Saturday by the Chinese military authorities showed no sign of abating today. Chinese police prowl the streets armed with executioners' swords, beheading their victims as they arrest them.

Students, laborers, idlers and professional agitators have fallen beneath the executioners' knives.

The tramcars and omnibuses resumed operation today, and the department stores reopened, but the strike is spreading. Virtually all the factories located in Chinese territory have closed. The repressive acts of the military authorities, instead of halting the strike, has aggravated conditions.

The wharf coolies quit today, holding up the loading and unloading of cargo. As a consequence, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia halted at Woosung at the mouth of the Yangtze, sixteen miles down the river, prior to proceeding on the Hongkong.

Restoring Order in Hangshow.

The drizzling rain which began Saturday is still falling.

The second battalion of the Suffolk regiment and a Japanese gunboat and submarine arrived at the Whangpoo docks today.

The Nationalists were reported to be restoring order in Hangchow, rounding up the defeated Sun Chuan-Fang stragglers, shooting many for looting and incorporating others into the Nationalist armies.

Altogether 800 houses and shops were looted in Hangchow. The shops on reopening are eflying the Nationalist flag.

Thousands of laborers here held demonstrations Sunday welcoming the Nationalists to the city.

Intelligence officers operating here declare that General Sun Chuan-Fang is prepared to flee if he is defeated at his present stand. He is reported to have booked passage to Japan.

Plan To Defend Shanghai.

PEKIN, Feb. 21.—The northern government plans for a general offensive in defense of Shanghai, it was announced today by General Yang Yu Ting chief of staff for Marshal Chang to Slin.

General Chang Tsung has left for Nanking fully empowered to defend Shanghai at all costs against the Cantonese.

General Sun Chaun Fang has finally requested Fengtien aid in his campaign and has called for a counter attack in Chekiang, if any attempt is made to cut the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, thus isolating Shanghai.

Fengtien troops plan to attack Hankow the moment the Cantonese strike at Shanghai.

Undaunted by the turbulence of life in China, 400 tourists, chiefly Americans from the Empress of Scotland, arrived at Chingwangtao today and boarded trans for Peking for a four day stay.

The Peking government has provided special trains to carry the visitors to the great wall of China, and to the battlefields fought over last summer.

SLAYER GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Harold F. Webster, former Florida real estate salesman, was today sentenced to serve from 20 years to life in Sing Sing prison by County Judge Lewis H. Smith.

Webster was convicted last week of second degree murder. He killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Gallaway, in Hempstead, in January.

TODAY

he might make more costly experiments. Experimenting with new inventions, he told the reporters, is the most interesting thing in the world, bring new truths out of the unknown.

Once he told Henry Ford of a wonderful machine, able to grind steel so fine that it would float on water. Edison said he was going to buy one for experiments, as soon as he could afford it.

Ford immediately bought two, one for himself, one for Edison. He, Ford, does not have to wish for more money. He's got it.

EVERYBODY saw the big headlines "Heir to $4,000,000 in Pauper's Grave," and many sympathized, thoughtlessly. Every heir to four millions, or four hundred millions, lies in a pauper's grave, for every corpse is a pauper. He has not pockets in shrouds, no bank accounts in the place to which he can go from here. Let that comfort you, if you lack your first million. But don't let it interfere with trying to get it. Struggling for what we don't need impels us to do work that the world does need.

THERE is money in the auto industry, all kinds of it, if you know the business. Ask Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors. Recently that concern distributed a bonus of 50 per cent of stock to its stockholders. Now, Mr. Sloan announces that the $7 paid annually on the old amount of stock is to be increased to $8 per year, on the greater amount of stock, more stock, then more dividend. The pleasant thing about the automobile business is that it always gets better. In 1925 General Motors earned $106,484,000. In 1926 the company earned $190,000,000, increase $84,000,000 net.

Mr. Sloan says figures thus far this year show dealers' sales to ultimate consumers for January above 80,000 cars and trucks. In January, 1926, the figure was 53,698 cars and trucks. It's folly to talk of a "saturation point" in auto industries. The industry, Edison says, is just starting.

YOUNG Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., in Sunday's newspapers, tells of some of his experiments, intimately. Some of his family wanted him to be a snob, which, as others would say, "is not a business." They thought Yale was too plebian and Harvard would supply the right atmosphere. He gives other details, revealing how wealth does its best to ruin the chances of the children.

More important. If you ask him, young Vanderbilt will tell what happened to those that bought stock in his tabloid newspapers, published in three cities. They lost millions of dollars, and others now buying tabloid newspaper stock, in the innocence of their hearts and pocketbooks, might investigate. Mark this, there is no better security than bonds issued against a real well established solid newspaper or magazine. In a newspaper worth while, you can not buy any stock, none is for sale.

VETS REFUSED $14,700 FUND

War Chest Trustees Turn Down Legion Request.

Request for an appropriation of $3,700 for relief work among ex-service men and their orphans and $11,000 for a Legion home was refused by the trustees of the war chest at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon.

The request was made by representatives of East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion, who asked for the transfer of $2,700, representing this city's share of the proposed $5,000,000 Legion endowment fund, $1,000 for local activities.

W. S. Foulks, secretary of the board, and D. M. Ogilvie, approved the request for $3,700, while Robert M. Brookes, chairman, and James S. Hilbert, treasurer, opposed it.

The Legion also asked for $11,000 to liquidate the mortgage on the Dresden avenue home but this was rejected without a record vote.

O. W. Schmitz, Indianapolis, special representative from the national Legion headquarters, discussed the proposed endowment fund. Legion spokesmen asserted that two East Liverpool families are now receiving $70 per month from the fund. Other cases for relief are now pending, it is claimed.

Financial report of the board submitted by Hilbert showed the fund to total $53,493.43. This is on deposit in three local building and loan institutions. This report will be filed with the common pleas court.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey was the only member of the board who did not attend the meeting.

port district, Copeland said. The heaviest snow on record was a 20-inch fall on April 19 and 20, 1901, he said.

County and state road men started out at 11 o'clock Sunday morning with seven snow plows to open improved roads of the county. The force was still on the job today, but all roads and main highways were open. At places it was necessary to hitch two trucks together in order to break through the deep drifts.

Street Cars Operate.

The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company had two sweepers and one scraper in the East Liverpool district and one sweeper and one scraper in the Steubenville district Sunday. Some difficulty was experienced in cutting a path through the drifts on the hill lines, delaying the first cars. There was little delay on the interurban lines.

No trouble due to the storm was experienced by the Ohio Bell Telephone company, officials said.

Snow continued to fall this morning. Gutters were clogged with snow and ice which had been shoveled from the sidewalks.

Street Commissioner Oliver Buzzard had his force of men at work clearing cross walks Sunday and today. The traction company removed the snow from the central part of the Diamond where the main line, East End and Chester cars and River Road buses stop.

Stranded Towboat Is Floated.

The towboat, "City of Pittsburgh" which went aground at the head of Line Island Thursday night while enroute to New Orleans with a cargo of steel from the Pittsburgh plant of the Carnegie Steel company, resumed her trip at 9 o'clock Saturday night when the barges were floated by high water.

The barges were removed one by one until all had been floated. The boat, which was making its maiden voyage at the time of the accident, was delayed for about 48 hours. Neither the boat nor the barges were damaged.

Six Columbus Gas Stations Robbed; One Man is Shot

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—Six gas filling station holdups occurred here over the week-end and early today, while doctors at White Cross hospital were fighting to save the life of Jack Noon a filling station attendant. Noon was shot by a negro bandit when he resisted an attempted holdup.

Two white bandits early today forced a filling station attendant to lie on the floor, after making him open the safe, and fled with $75. Total loot from the six holdups was about $300.

Family Flees as $15,000 Fire Sweeps Store at Whitmore

FREMONT, O., Feb. 21.—Neighbors today were caring for the family of John Tucker, general storekeeper at Whitmore, near here, following a $15,000 fire caused by an overheated furnace. Members of the family escaped in their night clothes. The store, lodge rooms and dance hall were destroyed.

RUDNER DENIES PHONE CALL IN MELLETT DEATH

Alleged "Pay-off" Man Faces Fire of Former Prosecutor.

TRIAL AT CANTON

Defendant Declares he Received no Message From McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—The high spot of today's proceedings in the trial of Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware man, who is charged with first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was the recall to the stand of William Brumme, Massillon salesman, by the defense. Brumme testified several days ago for the state.

This morning he was asked by George Gordon Battle, of defense counsel if he "didn't want to change his former testimony that Rudner had introduced him to Pat McDermott at Rudner's store in Massillon."

"No, I don't want to change it," it's the truth," answered Brumme.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—Cross examination of Ben Rudner, on trial for his life here, charged with complicity in the killing of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was resumed today by ex-Stark county Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was questioned concerning is alleged connection with Pat McDermott, convicted slayer of the newspaperman.

McClintock asked the acused man about a phone call said to have been made from the home of Kitty Barnes, Cleveland, to Ben Rudner, in Massillon July 21. McDermott was staying at the Barnes home at that time.

Rudner said he never received such a call.

In answer to a question concerning a call July 26 from Akron by a man name Jones, Rudner testified he never received and such call but that he did get a call on that date from his brother-in-law, Jack Greenberg.

"You heard Greenberg testify that he never used the name Jones, didn't you," McDermott asked.

"Yes" replied Rudner, "but the phone girl might have twisted the names."

"As a matter of fact, Ben, Pat McDermott called you on that day, didn't he? queried McDermott.

"Pat McDermott never called me," was the reply.

Asked if he knew Louis Mazer, Rudner said that he did. He testified, however, that he did not know Mazer was a "bootlegger" prior to Puly 1926.

21 Killed In Storm

seaside resort. In these latter places many houses were smashed or undermined and carried away by the high waters.

The New Jersey coast, Staten Island and Long Island were particularly hard-hit. The beaches of these vicinities were littered for miles with the debris of wrecked houses and the battered hulks of barges and small ships.

Eight coast guardsmen lost their lives near Provincetown, Mass., when their vessel, patrolboat 238, was grounded and hammered to pieces by the pounding surf. The raging seas held helpless destroyers which stood by in the hope of aiding the crew of the stricken vessel, and a crowd of watchers who gathered along the shore within plain sight of the wreck.

Three Ships Wrecked.

Numerous accidents were reported from all localities hit by the storm, the result of pedestrians slipping on ice, and the skidding of motor vehicles.

Many families living in the vicinity of the beaches were marooned on the upper floors and roofs of their dwellings. Others who escaped before the rising water cut off their retreat, found themselves homeless.

Many vessels and barges were reported in distress. Three ships were reported to have been wrecked south of Asbury Park, N. J., last night. The crew from one ship was rescued by the coast guard. The crews of the other two, the number of persons not known, were in dire perid but beyond the reach of rescuers until the heavy seas would subside.

The barge Talbert of New York, with men, women and children on board, was reported in distress 18 miles off New York. A coast guard patrol boat was sent to her rescue.

Two Bodies Washed Ashore

BOSTON, Feb. 21. — Twelve dead and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed was the toll by a northeast gale and snow storm that still shrieked along the northern Atlantic seaboard today.

Eight coastguardsmen fought a losing battle against the raging sea and up-mile-an-hour gale off Cape Cod, as the 70-foot patrolboat CG-238 went to pieces. Two bodies were washed ashore and search was under way along the sandy arm of the cape today for more bodies.

On the mainland, William Roach, Quincy, died from exposure while operating a snow plow.

Charles S. Candy, Montreal, was found dead from exposure in a doorway.

Richard F. Barry, of Malden, blinded by snow, was killed by a taxicab.

Philomena Ruoisse, of Leominster, was found dead from exposure in a snow bank in that city.

The shore line was strewn with wreckage of craft, large and small. Coast guard patrol boat CG-281 was high and dry at Vineyard Haven but the crew did not suffer the same fate as the CG-238, having waded safely ashore.

The five-masted schooner Nancy, of Philadelphia, was beside the Surfside railroad station at Nantasket beach. Her crew of nine men and "Paddy," the ship's car, were rescued by a volunteer crew in a dory.

The dredger Lydia was ashore and breaking up in Provincetown harbor.

Two motor-driven fishing craft were on the rocks at Plymouth.

The steamship Lake Gorin was in peril but holding off Cape Cod as a result of warnings received from the naval compass station.

A coal barge was ashore off the Dolliver's Neck coastguard station, Gloucester.

Leviathan Hugs Port.

The world's largest steamship, the Leviathan, did not venture out.

General John J. Pershing was held back by the high winds and snow drifts. Enroute from Boston to Exeter academy, Exeter, N. H., to visit his son, the overseas commander of the A. E. F., with General Mark L. Hersey, was forced to "surrender" and proceed back to Boston in their automobile.

Much property damage was done by the storm ashore. A roof was blown off a three-story apartment house in Dorchester. Scores of plate glass windows were blown out in stores. The town of Winthrop on the seashore was flooded in the low-lying sections and wires, short circuited by ice and wind, put the entire community in darkness during the night. The government pier at Nahant was undermined as were several cottages. Nahant, too, was without electrict current.

Six Victims in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—Held in the grip of the most severe snowstorm of a decade, Pennsylvania today took stock of the damage wrought by the snow, sleet and ice which have wrought havoc throughout the state for the past 48 hours.

The storm claimed five victims in Pittsburgh and one in Philadelphia.

Ranging in depth from four inches in the eastern part of the state to twenty-four inches in the western part, the snow was augmented today by the continuous, steady fall, which the weather bureau said would continue throughout the day.

Untold damage to property, especially that of telephone, telegraph and other public utilities, was done by the storm. The telephone company said 15,000 poles were down in eastern Pennsylvania alone. Many more were down in western Pennsylvania.

West Virginia also suffered heavily. Telephone communication with most parts of that state was cut off entirely due to wires snapping under the strain of snow and ice.

POTTER FACES LIQUOR CHARGE

Louis Reynolds Arrested After Police Find Five Half Pints.

Louis Reynolds, Second street potter, was arrested at the Buckeye plant of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, today, following a liquor raid upon his home in which five half pint bottles of moonshine whisky were confiscated.

The raid was made, according to McDermott, upon the receipt of complaints that Reynolds was selling liquor. The liquor, it is alleged, was found under several loaves of bread in a bread box.

Reynolds, who is charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, was remanded to jail to await a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley, who is not expected to return from Columbus until Wednesday morning.

Howard Jackson is being held in default of a $100 fine assessed against him by Judge Hanley Sunday upon a charge of transporting liquor. Jackson was arrested Saturday night in Mulberry street by Patrolman Herman Roth. He is alleged to have been carrying five half pints of whisky when searched.

John "Glory" Hughes, St. Clair avenue kilndrawer, and Harold Duffy were taken to the county jail at Lisbon this morning to serve out fines of $50 and costs assessed against them on charges of intoxication. They were arrested in West Third street Saturday afternoon.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — Though reactionary at the opening of the market today, the railroad stocks promptly assumed the leadership of the upward movement, many of the stocks in this group duplicating the high prices of last week. The industrials and motor stocks were irregular, the exception being the packing company stocks and Baldwin Locomotive, the latter bursting forward with a new 6 point advance to a record high price of 196.

Proximity to the Washington's birthday holiday, and the quite general interruption of wire service to the important outside speculative centers, detracted somewhat from the normal bullish factors affecting stock prices. Speculators were more inclined to lighten their load than to "load up" prior to the holiday, and stocks were sold in professional speculative quarters. Wabash and Lehigh Valley were strong and active. Rumors of a probable cut in Mid-Continent crude oil prices unsettled the oil stocks.

The forward move in Wilson & Company carried prices of the three issues a point or more. International Tel. & Tel. moved up in company with all American cables as a result of the contemplated merger of the two companies. Leow's, Inc., gained about three points more, to sell at its record high price. Independent steel stocks were firm, with Bethlehem up about a point.

Elsewhere the market was quiet and featureless, with the volume of sales tapering off in the second hour. Call money 4 per cent.

the measure as a side issue. Then council is the goat.

"I want to say that council had nothing to do with the preparation of this ordinance, and passed it on the recommendation of health board representativs, they saying it was essential to the health of the community.

"I thing if the authorities would enforce some of the ordinances already on the books it would be much better than to pass freak legislation that is soon forgotten.

"We have to many laws now, and not enough common sense used. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of repect for or enforcement of the laws.

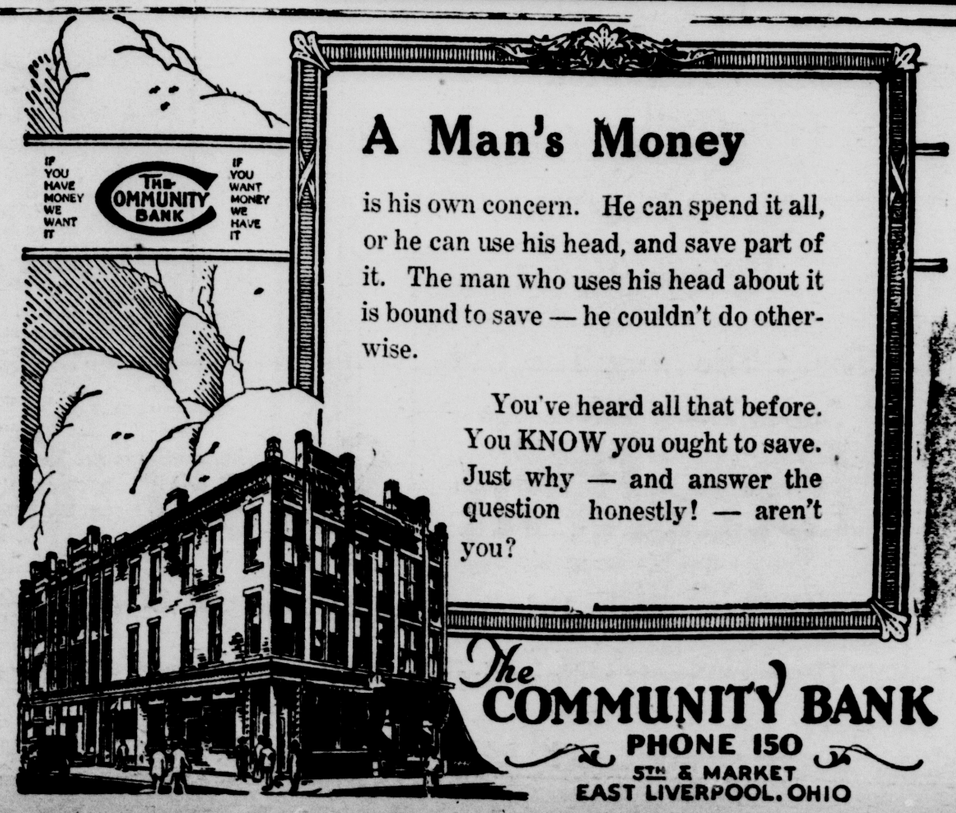

"I think if the board of health would use some of their surplus energy in trying to place the collection of garbage on the general tax duplicate, in place of the manner in which it is being collected, they would be doing a wonderful piece of work for this community. They could then stop the throwing of garbage in other peoples back yards, for there would be no need of anyone trying to shirk having garbage taken away, it would be done in a systematic manner, and at a cost of not more than one-half to three-quarters of a mill on the taxable property in the city. Think this over gentlemen, and I feel that this council will co-operate in any movement of this kind.

"I do not want this letter to appear as a censure to anyone, but merely to put the members of council right with their constituents on this ordinance in regard to the health examinations

"With all due respect to our board of health, I suggest let's get together in the future on legislative proposals.

60 AGITATORS DECAPITATED IN SHANGHAI

Reign of Terror Shows No Signs of Abating.

LONDON, Feb. 21. — Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that an agreement has been signed between Owen O'Malley, British charge in China, and Eugene Chen, Nationalist foreign minister, relative to the future administration of Honkow, a British concession.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21.—While the Cantonese continue their push against Shanghai, reports were received today of a definite break between the northern allies, who are operating against the Cantonese.

Despite the appeal of Chank Tso Lin to Wu Pei Fu for cooperation, it was reported today that Wu Pei Fu has decided not to permit Chang Tso Lin's forces to enter Honan in their march against the Cantonese.

A large detachment of Chang Tso Lin's forces is reported to have been disarmed by Wu Pei Fu, when they attempted to cross the frontier into Honan.

Ammunition trains belonging to Chang Tso Lin have also been seized by Wu Pei Fu.

Despite the drizzling rain crowds of morbid Chinese today continued to gather in the street and gaze upon the gruesome sight of their decapitated fellow countrymen.

Sixty alleged Chinese agitators, who have been decapitated, are now on display in the streets of Shanghai as a terrible warning of the fate that befalls those who attempt disorders.

Police Behead Victims.

The reign of terror begun Saturday by the Chinese military authorities showed no sign of abating today. Chinese police prowl the streets armed with executioners' swords, beheading their victims as they arrest them.

Students, laborers, idlers and professional agitators have fallen beneath the executioners' knives.

The tram cars and omnibuses resumed operation today, and the department stores reopened, but the strike is spreading. Virtually all the factories located in Chinese territory have closed. The repressive acts of the military authorities, instead of halting the strike, has aggravated conditions.

The wharf coolies quit today, holding up the loading and unloading of cargo. As a consequence, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia halted at Woosung at the mouth of the Yangtze, sixteen miles down the river, prior to proceeding on the Hongkong.

Restoring Order in Hangshow.

The drizzling rain which began Saturday is still falling.

The second battalion of the Suffolk regiment and a Japanese gunboat and submarine arrived at the Whangpoo docks today.

The Nationalists were reported to be restoring order in Hangchow, rounding up the defeated Sun Chuan-Fang stragglers, shooting many for looting and incorporating others into the Nationalist armies.

Altogether 800 houses and shops were looted in Hangchow. The shops on reopening are flying the Nationalist flag.

Thousands of laborers here held demonstrations Sunday welcoming the Nationalists to the city.

Intelligence officers operating here declare that General Sun Chuan-Fang is prepared to flee if he is defeated at his present stand. He is reported to have booked passage to Japan.

Plan To Defend Shanghai.

PEKIN, Feb. 21.—The northern government plans for a general offensive in defense of Shanghai, it was announced today by General Yang Yu Ting chief of staff for Marshal Chang to Slin.

General Chang Tsung has left for Nanking fully empowered to defend Shanghai at all costs against the Cantonese.

General Sun Chaun Fang has finally requested Fengtien aid in his campaign and has called for a counter attack in Chekiang, if any attempt is made to cut the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, thus isolating Shanghai.

Fengtien troops plan to attack Hankow the moment the Cantonese strike at Shanghai.

Undaunted by the turbulence of life in China, 400 tourists, chiefly Americans from the Empress of Scotland, arrived at Chingwangtao today and boarded trans for Peking for a four day stay.

The Peking government has provided special trains to carry the visitors to the great wall of China, and to the battlefields fought over last summer.

SLAYER GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Harold F. Webster, former Florida real estate salesman, was today sentenced to serve from 20 years to life in Sing Sing prison by County Judge Lewis H. Smith.

Webster was convicted last week of second degree murder. He killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Gallaway, in Hempstead, in January.

he might make more costly experiments. Experimenting with new inventions, he told the reporters, is the most interesting thing in the world, bring new truths out of the unknown.

Once he told Henry Ford of a wonderful machine, able to grind steel so fine that it would float on water. Edison said he was going to buy one for experiments, as soon as he could afford it.

Ford immediately bought two, one for himself, one for Edison. He, Ford, does not have to wish for more money. He's got it.

EVERYBODY saw the big headlines "Heir to $4,000,000 in Pauper's Grave," and many sympathized, thoughtlessly. Every heir to four millions, or four hundred millions, lies in a pauper's grave, for every corpse is a pauper. He has not pockets in shrouds, no bank accounts in the place to which he can go from here. Let that comfort you, if you lack your first million. But don't let it interfere with trying to get it. Struggling for what we don't need impels us to do work that the world does need.

THERE is money in the auto industry, all kinds of it, if you know the business. Ask Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors. Recently that concern distributed a bonus of 50 per cent of stock to its stockholders. Now, Mr. Sloan announces that the $7 paid annually on the old amount of stock is to be increased to $8 per year, on the greater amount of stock, more stock, then more dividend. The pleasant thing about the automobile business is that it always gets better. In 1925 General Motors earned $106,484,000. In 1926 the company earned $190,000,000, increase $84,000,000 net.

Mr. Sloan says figures thus far this year show dealers' sales to ultimate consumers for January above 80,000 cars and trucks. In January, 1926, the figure was 53,698 cars and trucks. It's folly to talk of a "saturation point" in auto industries. The industry, Edison says, is just starting.

YOUNG Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., in Sunday's newspapers, tells of some of his experiments, intimately. Some of his family wanted him to be a snob, which, as others would say, "is not a business." They thought Yale was too plebian and Harvard would supply the right atmosphere. He gives other details, revealing how wealth does its best to ruin the chances of the children.

More important. If you ask him, young Vanderbilt will tell what happened to those that bought stock in his tabloid newspapers, published in three cities. They lost millions of dollars, and others now buying tabloid newspaper stock, in the innocence of their hearts and pocketbooks, might investigate. Mark this, there is no better security than bonds issued against a real well established solid newspaper or magazine. In a newspaper worth while, you can not buy any stock, none is for sale.

VETS REFUSED $14,700 FUND

War Chest Trustees Turn Down Legion Request.

Request for an appropriation of $3,700 for relief work among ex-service men and their orphans and $11,000 for a Legion home was refused by the trustees of the war chest at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon.

The request was made by representatives of East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion, who asked for the transfer of $2,700, representing this city's share of the proposed $5,000,000 Legion endowment fund, $1,000 for local activities.

W. S. Fouiks, secretary of the board, and D. M. Ogilvie, approved the request for $3,700, while Robert M. Brookes, chairman, and James S. Hilbert, treasurer, opposed it.

The Legion also asked for $11,000 to liquidate the mortgage on the Dresden avenue home but this was rejected without a record vote.

O. W. Schmitz, Indianapolis, special representative from the national Legion headquarters, discussed the proposed endowment fund. Legion spokesmen asserted that two East Liverpool families are now receiving $70 per month from the fund. Other cases for relief are now pending, it is claimed.

Financial report of the board submitted by Hilbert showed the fund to total $53,493.43. This is on deposit in three local building and loan institutions. This report will be filed with the common pleas court.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey was the only member of the board who did not attend the meeting.

Rivermen Fear Flood

port district, Copeland said. The heaviest snow on record was a 20-inch fall on April 19 and 20, 1901, he said.

County and state road men started out at 11 o'clock Sunday morning with seven snow plows to open improved roads of the county. The force was still on the job today, but all roads and main highways were open. At places it was necessary to hitch two trucks together in order to break through the deep drifts.

Street Cars Operate.

The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company had two sweepers and one scraper in the East Liverpool district and one sweeper and one scraper in the Steubenville district Sunday. Some difficulty was experienced in cutting a path through the drifts on the hill lines, delaying the first cars. There was little delay on the interurban lines.

No trouble due to the storm was experienced by the Ohio Bell Telephone company, officials said.

Snow continued to fall this morning. Gutters were clogged with snow and ice which had been shoveled from the sidewalks.

Street Commissioner Oliver Buzzard had his force of men at work clearing cross walks Sunday and today. The traction company removed the snow from the central part of the Diamond where the main line, East End and Chester cars and River Road bus stop.

Stranded Towboat Is Floated.

The towboat, "City of Pittsburgh" which went aground at the head of Line Island Thursday night while enroute to New Orleans with a cargo of steel from the Pittsburgh plant of the Carnegie Steel company, resumed her trip at 9 o'clock Saturday night when the barges were floated by high water.

The barges were removed one by one until all had been floated. The boat, which was making its maiden voyage at the time of the accident, was delayed for about 48 hours. Neither the boat nor the barges were damaged.

Six Columbus Gas Stations Robbed; One Man is Shot

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—Six gas filling station holdups occurred here over the week-end and early today, while doctors at White Cross hospital were fighting to save the life of Jack Noon a filling station attendant. Noon was shot by a negro bandit when he resisted an attempted holdup.

Two white bandits early today forced a filling station attendant to lie on the floor, after making him open the safe, and fled with $75. Total loot from the six holdups was about $300.

Family Flees as $15,000 Fire Sweeps Store at Whitmore

FREMONT, O., Feb. 21.—Neighbors today were caring for the family of John Tucker, general storekeeper at Whitmore, near here, following a $15,000 fire caused by an overheated furnace. Members of the family escaped in their night clothes. The store, lodge rooms and dance hall were destroyed.

RUDNER DENIES PHONE CALL IN MELLETT DEATH

Alleged "Pay-off" Man Faces Fire of Former Prosecutor.

TRIAL AT CANTON

Defendant Declares he Received no Message From McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—The high spot of today's proceedings in the trial of Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware man, who is charged with first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was the recall to the stand of William Brumme, Massillon salesman, by the defense. Brumme testified several days ago for the state.

This morning he was asked by George Gordon Battle, of defense counsel if he "didn't want to change his former testimony that Rudner had introduced him to Pat McDermott at Rudner's store in Massillon."

"No, I don't want to change it," it's the truth," answered Brumme.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—Cross examination of Ben Rudner, on trial for his life here, charged with complicity in the killing of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was resumed today by ex-Stark county Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was questioned concerning is alleged connection with Pat McDermott, convicted slayer of the newspaperman.

McClintock asked the acused man about a phone call said to have been made from the home of Kitty Barnes, Cleveland, to Ben Rudner, in Massillon July 21. McDermott was staying at the Barnes home at that time.

Rudner said he never received such a call.

In answer to a question concerning a call July 26 from Akron by a man name Jones, Rudner testified he never received and such call but that he did get a call on that date from his brother-in-law, Jack Greenberg.

"You heard Greenberg testify that he never used the name Jones, didn't you," McDermott asked.

"Yes" replied Rudner, "but the phone girl might have twisted the names."

"As a matter of fact, Ben, Pat McDermott called you on that day, didn't he? queried McDermott.

"Pat McDermott never called me," was the reply.

Asked if he knew Louis Mazer, Rudner said that he did. He testified, however, that he did not know Mazer was a "bootlegger" prior to Puly 1926.

seaside resort. In these latter places many houses were smashed or undermined and carried away by the high waters.

The New Jersey coast, Staten Island and Long Island were particularly hard-hit. The beaches of these vicinities were littered for miles with the debris of wrecked houses and the battered hulks of barges and small ships.

Eight coast guardsmen lost their lives near Provincetown, Mass., when their vessel, patrolboat 238, was grounded and hammered to pieces by the pounding surf. The raging seas held helpless destroyers which stood by in the hope of aiding the crew of the stricken vessel, and a crowd of watchers who gathered along the shore within plain sight of the wreck.

Three Ships Wrecked.

Numerous accidents were reported from all localities hit by the storm, the result of pedestrians slipping on ice, and the skidding of motor vehicles.

Many families living in the vicinity of the beaches were marooned on the upper floors and roofs of their dwellings. Others who escaped before the rising water cut off their retreat, found themselves homeless.

Many vessels and barges were reported in distress. Three ships were reported to have been wrecked south of Asbury Park, N. J., last night. The crew from one ship was rescued by the coast guard. The crews of the other two, the number of persons not known, were in dire perid but beyond the reach of rescuers until the heavy seas would subside.

The barge Talbert of New York, with men, women and children on board, was reported in distress 18 miles off New York. A coast guard patrol boat was sent to her rescue.

Two Bodies Washed Ashore

BOSTON, Feb. 21. — Twelve dead and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed was the toll by a northeast gale and snow storm that still shrieked along the northern Atlantic seaboard today.

Eight coastguardsmen fought a losing battle against the raging sea and 90-mile-an-hour gale off Cape Cod, as the 70-foot patrolboat CG-238 went to pieces. Two bodies were washed ashore and search was under way along the sandy arm of the cape today for more bodies.

On the mainland, William Roach, Quincy, died from exposure while operating a snow plow.

Charles S. Candy, Montreal, was found dead from exposure in a doorway.

Richard F. Barry, of Malden, blinded by snow, was killed by a taxicab.

Philomena Ruoisse, of Leominster, was found dead from exposure in a snow bank in that city.

The shore line was strewn with wreckage of craft, large and small. Coast guard patrol boat CG-281 was high and dry at Vineyard Haven but the crew did not suffer the same fate as the CG-238, having waded safely ashore.

The five-masted schooner Nancy, of Philadelphia, was beside the Surfside railroad station at Nantasket beach. Her crew of nine men and "Paddy," the ship's car, were rescued by a volunteer crew in a dory.

The dredger Lydia was ashore and breaking up in Provincetown harbor.

Two motor-driven fishing craft were on the rocks at Plymouth.

The steamship Lake Gorin was in peril but holding off Cape Cod as a result of warnings received from the naval compass station.

A coal barge was ashore off the Dolliver's Neck coastguard station, Gloucester.

Leviathan Hugs Port.

The world's largest steamship, the Leviathan, did not venture out.

General John J. Pershing was held back by the high winds and snow drifts. Enroute from Boston to Exeter academy, Exeter, N. H., to visit his son, the overseas commander of the A. E. F., with General Mark L. Hersey, was forced to "surrender" and proceed back to Boston in their automobile.

Much property damage was done by the storm ashore. A roof was blown off a three story apartment house in Dorchester. Scores of plate glass windows were blown out in stores. The town of Winthrop on the seashore was flooded in the low-lying sections and wires, short circuited by ice and wind, put the entire community in darkness during the night. The government pier at Nahant was undermined as were several cottages. Nahant, too, was without electric current.

Six Victims in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—Held in the grip of the most severe snowstorm of a decade, Pennsylvania today took stock of the damage wrought by the snow, sleet and ice which have wrought havoc throughout the state for the past 48 hours.

The storm claimed five victims in Pittsburgh and one in Philadelphia.

Ranging in depth from four inches in the eastern part of the state to twenty-four inches in the western part, the snow was augmented today by the continuous, steady fall, which the weather bureau said would continue throughout the day.

Untold damage to property, especially that of telephone, telegraph and other public utilities, was done by the storm. The telephone company said 15,000 poles were down in eastern Pennsylvania alone. Many more were down in western Pennsylvania.

West Virginia also suffered heavily. Telephone communication with most parts of that state was cut off entirely due to wires snapping under the strain of snow and ice.

POTTER FACES LIQUOR CHARGE

Louis Reynolds Arrested After Police Find Five Half Pints.

Louis Reynolds, Second street potter, was arrested at the Buckeye plant of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, today, following a liquor raid upon his home in which five half pint bottles of moonshine whisky were confiscated.

The raid was made, according to McDermott, upon the receipt of complaints that Reynolds was selling liquor. The liquor, it is alleged, was found under several loaves of bread in a bread box.

Reynolds, who is charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, was remanded to jail to await a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley, who is not expected to return from Columbus until Wednesday morning.

Howard Jackson is being held in default of a $100 fine assessed against him by Judge Hanley Sunday upon a charge of transporting liquor. Jackson was arrested Saturday night in Mulberry street by Patrolman Herman Roth. He is alleged to have been carrying five half pints of whisky when searched.

John "Glory" Hughes, St. Clair avenue kindrawer, and Harold Duffy were taken to the county jail at Lisbon this morning to serve out fines of $50 and costs assessed against them on charges of intoxication. They were arrested in West Third street Saturday afternoon.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — Though reactionary at the opening of the market today, the railroad stocks promptly assumed the leadership of the upward movement, many of the stocks in this group duplicating the high prices of last week. The industrials and motor stocks were irregular, the exception being the packing company stocks and Baldwin Locomotive, the latter bursting forward with a new 6 point advance to a record high price of 196.

Proximity to the Washington's birthday holiday, and the quite general interruption of wire service to the important outside speculative centers, detracted somewhat from the normal bullish factors affecting stock prices. Speculators were more inclined to lighten their load than to "load up" prior to the holiday, and stocks were sold in professional speculative quarters. Wabash and Lehigh Valley were strong and active. Rumors of a probable cut in Mid-Continent crude oil prices unsettled the oil stocks.

The forward move in Wilson & Company carried prices of the three issues a point or more. International Tel. & Tel. moved up in company with all American cables as a result of the contemplated merger of the two companies. Leow's, Inc., gained about three points more, to sell at its record high price. Independent steel stocks were firm, with Bethlehem up about a point.

Elsewhere the market was quiet and featureless, with the volume of sales tapering off in the second hour. Call money 4 per cent.

the measure as a side issue. Then council is the goat.

"I want to say that council had nothing to do with the preparation of this ordinance, and passed it on the recommendation of health board representativs, they saying it was essential to the health of the community.

"I thing if the authorities would enforce some of the ordinances already on the books it would be much better than to pass freak legislation that is soon forgotten.

"We have to many laws now, and not enough common sense used. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of repect for or enforcement of the laws.

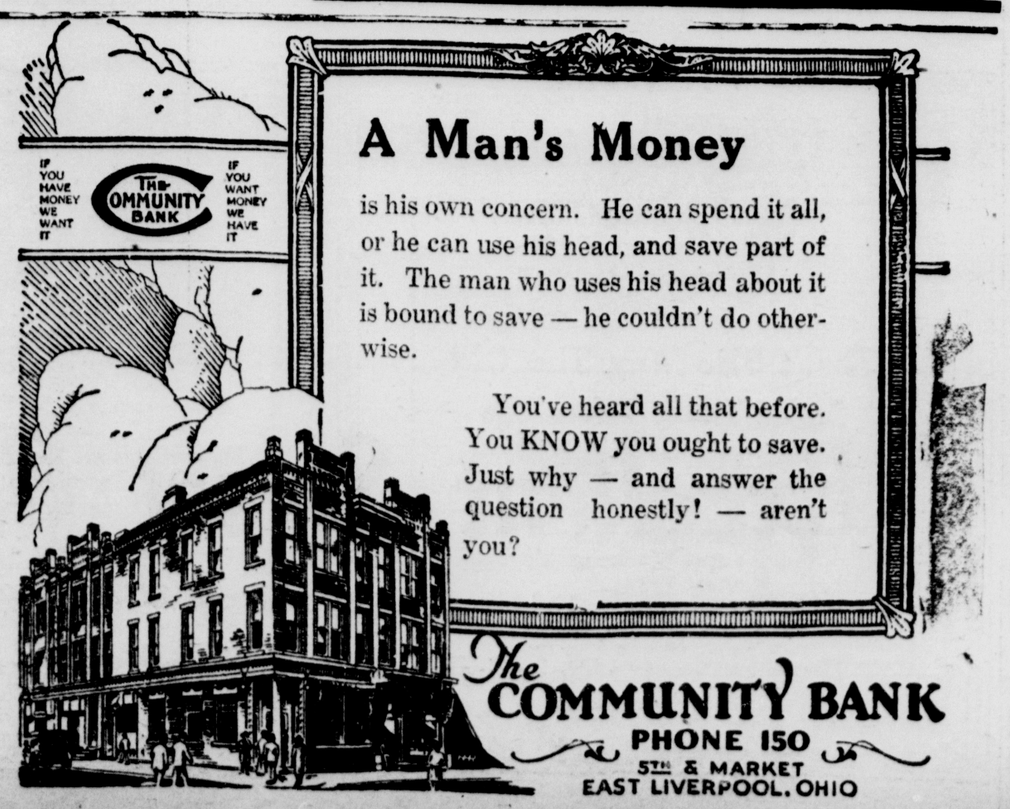

"I think if the board of health would use some of their surplus energy in trying to place the collection of garbage on the general tax duplicate, in place of the manner in which it is being collected, they would be doing a wonderful piece of work for this community. They could then stop the throwing of garbage in other peoples back yards, for there would be no need of anyone trying to shirk having garbage taken away, it would be done in a systematic manner, and at a cost of not more than one-half to three-quarters of a mill on the taxable property in the city. Think this over gentlemen, and I feel that this council will co-operate in any movement of this kind.

"I do not want this letter to appear as a censure to anyone, but merely to put the members of council right with their constituents on this ordinance in regard to the health examinations

"With all due respect to our board of health, I suggest let's get together in the future on legislative proposals.

MISS COSTELLO AT AMERICAN

Dolores Stars in Film Success, "The Third Degree."

Dolores Costello's latest starring vehicle for Warner Bros., "The Third Degree," which opens a three-day run at the American theatre today is a powerfully dramatic argument against circumstantial evidence.

A well-to-do man between 40 and 50 years of age and of uncertain means of support is shot in his luxurious Fifth avenue apartment. When the police arrive they find a young husband with whose wife the victim is thought to have had relations standing over the body in a dazed condition with a ladies' size automatic in his hand. There is liquor on his breath and he bears the unmistakable signs of a rough and tumble struggle.

All superficial circumstances point to his guilt and the detectives, with minds made up, set about the task of making him confess by submitting him to the infamous "third degree." At last, after long hours of mental torture he is worn down to a confession.

Hardly knowing what he does, he signs his own life away. With the circumstantial evidence backed by the confession any court in the land will convict him. Only one person can save him, and she is impelled to silence by the powerful motives of self-preservation and mother love.

Jason Robards plays the suspected man. Louise Dresser, Rockliffe Fellowes, Kate Price, Tom Santchi, Harry Vavitch, David Torrence and Fred Kelsey are also in the cast.

"The Third Degree" was adapted from Graham Baker fom the famous stage melodrama of Charles Klein. It was directed by Michael Curtiz.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, Ohio.

BUDGET SHEETS MUST BE FILED

County Auditor Walker Mails Notices to Fiscal Agents.

Fifteen taxing districts, which includes six municipal corporations, three townships and six school districts have failed to file their 1927 appropriation sheets and also their balance sheets, according to letters just sent the fiscal agents of these districts by County Auditor Elmer E. Wilker. In this letter Auditor Walker has pointed out that "all funds spent since January 1st have been spent illegally and fiscal agents are held strictly responsible."

The townships failing to forward appropriation sheets are Unity, Franklin and West. School districts failing to report are East Liverpool city, Salem city, St. Clair township, Unity school district No. 7, East Rochester and West township. Those cities in default of filing appropriation sheets are Wellsville, Salem, Hanoverton, Lisbon, New Waterford and Columbiana.

No balance sheets have been filed as the law provides from Franklin and West townships and West township school district and Unity school district No. 7.

Distribution of the December tax settlement, which is expected to be forthcoming early in March will be held up from all those districts not having appropriation and balance sheets on file.

In addition to sending out requests for these appropriations and balance sheets, Auditor Walker has also mailed to clerks of all board of education clerks in the county blank statements to be returned, showing balances in school funds, and these statements to be certified by banks where school funds are on deposit. No tax distribution will be mailed these clerks either next month or in August unless these statements are on file.

LEETONIA STREET PLANS APPROVED

County commissioners have approved the plans for the improvement of Lisbon and Walnut streets, Leetonia, and this certification will be immediately forwarded to Mayor Galen Lodge and City Solicitor W. E. Warren of Leetonia. This approval was necessary because of the fact the county is putting money into the improvement of both these streets, as they are parts of intercounty highways. Leetonia council will immediately proceed with its necessary legislation. The county is putting $11,000 into these two projects.

PONDI FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Changing his plea from not guilty to that of guilty, John Pondi, residing on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road near the Beaver creek bridge, has been fined $400 by Mayor Robert B. Clark of Lisbon on a charge of "possession." In addition to a pint of liquor being found at his place Marshal George Groves also located 40 gallon of home made wine. A part of the fine was paid and arrangements made by the defendant to discount the balance in installments.

ROAD INSPECTION REPORT FILED

Final report on the inspection of section D-1 of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, or intercounty highway No. 502 from the Cox highway north to the Columbiana-Mahoning county line has been filed with County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. As far as state inspection is concerned, this is the end to this project.

The state has tested the road for smoothness and found it to be the first road in the county without a bump or depression exceeding one-quarter of an inch in a given 10 feet.

"But all those symptoms have disappeared and I'm enjoying the best health of my life since trying Tanlac. Instead of the old torpid drowsy feeling that dragged me down, I'm spry and active. Instead of the old headaches and dizzy spells my head is clear and free from pain. I eat, sleep and feel like an entirely new woman. Tanlac is the best ever and has my full endorsement."

"Since I was sixteen years old," said Mrs. Fuhrman, "stomach and nervous troubles kept me weak and rundown. Nothing I could do seemed to overcome those distressing conditions, and I had come to the belief I could never be healthy again. The slightest exertion used to exhaust me, and I could not eat the lightest food without suffering afterwards. It lay like a lump in my stomach and caused a tight choking feeling in my chest and throat.

"But all those symptoms have disappeared and I'm enjoying the best health of my life since trying Tanlac. Instead of the old torpid drowsy feeling that dragged me down, I'm spry and active. Instead of the old headaches and dizzy spells my head is clear and free from pain. I eat, sleep and feel like an entirely new woman. Tanlac is the best ever and has my full endorsement."

ELKS FACE DAMASCUS TWICE IN WEEK'S COUNTY LEAGUE GAMES

UPHEAVAL IN BIG TEN RANKS AIDS INDIANA

Hoosiers on Top as Three Leaders are Beaten.

BY GENE HOFFMAN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The race for the Big Ten basketball championship was still wide open today despite the fact that Indiana is leading the parade with a half game margin over four bristling challengers, all tied for second place.

Indiana has won six games and lost two. Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue and Iowa have each won five and lost two. This unique standing resulted from Saturday night's upheaval when each of the three teams, tied for first place—Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue—took the count before a worthy foe.

The Hoosiers took the lead—and incidentally a piece of sweet revenge—by upsetting Michigan in the latter's own bailiwick, 37 to 34. It was Michigan that put the Hoosiers on the chutes several weeks ago by giving them their first drubbing of the season.

The early dopesters who picked Indiana to win the conference title are now back on the job oiling up their vocal cords for the chorus of "I told you sos." But with four fighting teams chafing at the post, only one-half game behind, Indiana is anything but "in." The race is still wide open.

Two other surprises Saturday night were the defeat of Wisconsin and Purdue, two of the strongest teams in the conference. Ohio State took Wisconsin into camp, 20 to 16, at Columbus, and Iowa defeated Purdue, 33 to 28, at Iowa City. In the fourth game Saturday, Chicago trimmed Northwestern, 40 to 21.

ILLINI CAPTAIN LEADS SCORERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. — Captain Russell Daugherity, of Illinois, today holds the lead for individual scoring honors in the Big Ten basketball race. Hunt, of Ohio State is second and Gleichmann, of Northwestern, third.

| Names | School | Points |

| Daugherity | Illinois | 92 |
| Hunt | Ohio State | 91 |
| Gleichmann | Northwestern | 64 |
| Cummins | Purdue | 63 |
| Otterness | Minnesota | 61 |
| Beckner | Indiana | 60 |

DOUBLE BILL AT AMERICAN

Two games are scheduled tonight in the American pocket billiard tournament.

C. Moore will play Creed Morris and Charles Price will meet Ed Reney.

BATTLE QUAKER QUINT TONIHGT IN ROAD CLASH

Meet First Half Champions Here Thursday Night.

Bill Powell's Elks will have to cop two in a row this week to stay up in the race with Columbiana, Salem and Damascus in the last half county cage league drive.

If they do land two in a row, it will mean the elimination of the Damascus Quakers for both engagements in which the Antlers figure down the next six-day stretch are billed with the opening section champions, the first at Damascus tonight and the second here on Thursday night.

While the locals are tangling with the Goshen township aggregation Salem will be playing Salineville in two games and Columbiana probably will be winning from the Lisbon Scholastics.

This week's contests mark the midway point in the final half of the schedule, consequently giving each club two games with its opponent.

Lisbon, Salem, East Liverpool and Columbiana have each lost one game thus far, but Columbiana and Damascus have a postponed engagement to play and that will automatically sink one of those clubs a little farther.

The operations of the Damascus club have been a triffle puzzling thus far and their lineup for their two games this week is causing some speculation among followers of the Elks.

Neither Forward Grice nor Guard Kyser, the latter one of the classiest defense men in the circuit, have played with the Quakers in the second half thus far. But in the meantime Manager Bye's outfit has picked up two Alliance boys who have led the team to victory in two contests.

Consequently the question in the minds of B. P. O. E. enthusiasts is, "Will Grice and Kyser play against the Elks this week."

The week's schedule follows:

Tonight.
East Liverpool at Damascus.
Tuesday.
Salem at Salineville.
Wednesday.
Lisbon at Columbiana.
Thursday.
Damascus at East Liverpool.
Salineville at Salem.
Friday.
Columbiana at Lisbon.

Visitors Unable To Penetrate Defense Of Local Passers

Register Three Field Goals During Game, Two of Them on Second String Squad; Larkins, McConville Cut Down Scoring Chances.

Coming to the Pottery City Saturday night with a highly polished reputation, Dover Scholastic basketballers took a 28 to 11 walloping at the hands of Jimmy Hamilton and his company as the Blue and White registered its fifth consecutive clean-up.

The visitors had captured 13 out of 16 starts prior to their appearance on the local court but Saturday night they ran into too much opposition. They were stacked up against a bunch of fighting basketballers that were bent on maintaining their winning streak and were swept to defeat in the first period of play. Lorahmen launched an attack that the visitors were powerless to stop and the game was in the Blue and White bag before the intermission had arrived.

It was not so much the fact that Dover was weak—far from it. The Doverites are a good team and their record shows it, but the locals were a whole lot better.

The visitors were unable to organize any decent sort of play with the great defensive playing of Larkins and McConville smothering them constantly. Three field goals were all that they made in the game and two of them came after Lorah had run in his second stringers during the last five minutes of the performance.

Dover exhibited some fair pass work at times but lacked the ability to get it through McConville and Larkins for points. They were given few real opportunities to count.

English registered the first field goal on a long pass from McConville. Larkins was fouled in trying for a basket and Dick added two more points. McConville dropped in one of his specialty shots from mid-floor. Hamilton slid in two more field goals in a row and English sank one on a one-hand try. The game looked like a runaway at this point.

Dover registered its first points from the foul line, Braun counting twice. McConville dropped in a two-pointer for the locals and the tally was 14 to 2 at the end of the period.

The rest of the struggle was a little quieter than the opening quarter. East Liverpool added four more points while Low got by for the visitors' only field goal of the first half, the score being 18-4 at the end of the second quarter.

Lorah's squad began to pelt the basket again in the third quarter and ran the count up to 25 points, the visitors getting one more counter.

Dover scored more in the final period than they had made the rest of the game, but not enough to cause any alarm. They added six points while the locals were making but two but it didn't mean a thing for the Blue was beyond the danger zone.

Though all the regulars played real basketball and all figured in the scoring, no little credit goes to Larkins and McConville, the guards, whose playing probably set a new high standard for the year.

ELKS FACE DAMASCUS TWICE IN WEEK'S COUNTY LAGUE GAMES

Hoosiers on Top as Three Leaders are Beaten.

BY GENE HOFFMAN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The race for the Big Ten basketball championship was still wide open today despite the fact that Indiana is leading the parade with a half game margin over four bristling challengers, all tied for second place.

Indiana has won six games and lost two. Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue and Iowa have each won five and lost two. This unique standing resulted from Saturday night's upheaval when each of the three teams, tied for first place—Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue—took the count before a worthy foe.

The Hoosiers took the lead—and incidentally a piece of sweet revenge—by upsetting Michigan in the latter's own bailiwick, 37 to 34. It was Michigan that put the Hoosiers on the chutes several weeks ago by giving them their first drubbing of the season.

The early dopesters who picked Indiana to win the conference title are now back on the job oiling up their vocal cords for the chorus of "I told you sos." But with four fighting teams chafing at the post, only one-half game behind, Indiana is anything but "in." The race is still wide open.

Two other surprises Saturday night were the defeat of Wisconsin and Purdue, two of the strongest teams in the conference. Ohio State took Wisconsin into camp, 20 to 16, at Columbus, and Iowa defeated Purdue, 33 to 28, at Iowa City. In the fourth game Saturday, Chicago trimmed Northwestern, 40 to 21.

ILLINI CAPTAIN LEADS SCORERS

BATTLE QUAKER QUINT TONIHGT IN ROAD CLASH

Meet First Half Champions Here Thursday Night.

Bill Powell's Elks will have to cop two in a row this week to stay up in the race with Columbiana, Salem and Damascus in the last half county cage league drive.

If they do land two in a row, it will mean the elimination of the Damascus Quakers for both engagements in which the Antlers figure down the next six-day stretch are billed with the opening section champions, the first at Damascus tonight and the second here on Thursday night.

While the locals are tangling with the Goshen township aggregation Salem will be playing Salineville in two games and Columbiana probably will be winning from the Lisbon Scholastics.

This week's contests mark the midway point in the final half of the schedule, consequently giving each club two games with its opponent.

Lisbon, Salem, East Liverpool and Columbiana have each lost one game thus far, but Columbiana and Damascus have a postponed engagement to play and that will automatically sink one of those clubs a little farther.

The operations of the Damascus club have been a triffle puzzling thus far and their lineup for their two games this week is causing some speculation among followers of the Elks.

Neither Forward Grice nor Guard Kyser, the latter one of the classiest defense men in the circuit, have played with the Quakers in the second half thus far. But in the meantime Manager Bye's outfit has picked up two Alliance boys who have led the team to victory in two contests.

Consequently the question in the minds of B. P. O. E. enthusiasts is, "Will Grice and Kyser play against the Elks this week-"

The week's schedule follows:

East Liverpool at Damascus.

Tuesday.
Salem at Salineville.

Wednesday.
Lisbon at Columbiana.

Thursday.
Damascus at East Liverpool.
Salineville at Salem.

Friday.
Columbiana at Lisbon.

EAST END "EVOLUTION" IS SERMON TOPIC

Evangelist L. S. Hoover Speaks in Oakland Church.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, of Tionesta, Pa., spoke yesterday at the revival services in the Oakland Free Methodist church. He had as his subject yesterday afternoon "Evolution." He spoke in part as follows: "What is Man? This is the eternal question, that has puzzled the scientists for ages.

According to the scientists, their best answer is evolution. There are so many classes of evolution, it is hard to keep tab on them but for the purpose of brevity, I shall discuss them under three heads.

First, the apeists, evolutionists. These are they who have been trying to make a monkey our ancestor.

Darwin H. G. Wells and many others so-called, scientists of the present day belong to this class.

"All they have succeeded in doing is to weave a fine spun theory that begins with the ages and gets no where, except up a tree and as we are unfortunately without tails, it is difficult to hold on, especially to this theory.

The need of a tail is evident to complete the missing link, but the only one the evolutionists have or succeeded in providing us with is a tale of woe.

The only proof they have of this theory, is similarity. But because some people may look like monkeys, and sometimes act like monkeys, is no proof that they are monkeys.

"The evolutionists are about to start a church in New York, and some one suggested, that they should put this sign over the door, let none enter here except those that are of beastly origin. To this the fundamentalists say amen.

"However, this theory is on the wane so it behooves the evolutionists to scamper around among the ape skulls and old fossils too numerous to mention in order to bolster up the remains of the theory. So many are deserting the apeist theory as being absolete, and are joining the protoplasmists.

"These are they, who with Scopes teach that some where way back in the protozic age, a protoplasm, began in the sea water, and then branch off into various animals groups, finally culminating man.

If the Bible said anything as idiotic as this the scientists would laugh us to scorn. This is science up to date.

MISSION SOCIETY HOLDS SERVICE

Thank offering services under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society were held yesterday morning in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chester.

Seek Information On Guilford Land

Game Association to Send Committee to Columbus.

The Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association is now arranging to send a committee to Columbus to ascertain why no money has been paid for property in Hanover township that is to be included in and known as the Columbiana county state park. How soon this committee will leave will be determined by the work that is now being done by Randall Hamilton of Lisbon.

Money for the purchase of this land was appropriated by the last general assembly, and abstracts have been approved by the office of the attorney general.

"Now that the matter has gone this far, there is no use in shqwing lax interest in the project," suggested Mr. Hamilton today, "and what we are interested in knowing is why the department has not bought the land when the money was made available. That's why we are going to Columbus."

Two weeks ago a few abstracts were returned to Lisbon for minor alterations and these have been made. Now all the abstracts are at Columbus, according to Mr. Hamilton.

The twenty-million-dollar electric power project on the Sho river in Japan, will be completed in 1929.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover Speaks in Oakland Church.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, of Tionesta, Pa., spoke yesterday at the revival services in the Oakland Free Methodist church. He had as his subject yesterday afternoon "Evolution." He spoke in part as follows: "What is Man? This is the eternal question, that has puzzled the scientists for ages.

According to the scientists, their best answer is evolution. There are so many classes of evolution, it is hard to keep tab on them but for the purpose of brevity, I shall discuss them under three leads.

First, the apeists, evolutionists. These are they who have been trying to make a monkey our ancestor.

Darwin H. G. Wells and many others so-called, scientists of the present day belong to this class.

"All they have succeeded in doing is to weave a fine spun theory that begins with the ages and gets no where, except up a tree and as we are unfortunately without tails, it is difficult to hold on, especially to this theory.

The need of a tail is evident to complete the missing link, but the only one the evolutionists have or succeeded in providing us with is a tale of woe.

The only proof they have of this theory, is similarity. But because some people may look like monkeys, and sometimes act like monkeys, is no proof that they are monkeys.

"The evolutionists are about to start a church in New York, and some one suggested, that they should put this sign over the door, let none enter here except those that are of beastly origin. To this the fundamentalists say amen.

"However, this theory is on the wane so it behooves the evolutionists to scamper around among the ape skulls and old fossils too numerous to mention in order to bolster up the remains of the theory. So many are deserting the apeist theory as being absolete, and are joining the protoplasmists.

"These are they, who with Scopes teach that some where way back in the protozic age, a protoplasm, began in the sea water, and then branch off into various animals groups, finally culminating man.

If the Bible said anything as idiotic as this the scientists would laugh us to scorn. This is science up to date.

Seek Information On Guilford Land

Game Association to Send Committee to Columbus.

The Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association is now arranging to send a committee to Columbus to ascertain why no money has been paid for property in Hanover township that is to be included in and known as the Columbiana county state park. How soon this committee will leave will be determined by the work that is now being done by Randall Hamilton of Lisbon.

Money for the purchase of this land was appropriated by the last general assembly, and abstracts have been approved by the office of the attorney general.

"Now that the matter has gone this far, there is no use in shqwing lax interest in the project," suggested Mr. Hamilton today, "and what we are interested in knowing is why the department has not bought the land when the money was made available. That's why we are going to Columbus."

Two weeks ago a few abstracts were returned to Lisbon for minor alterations and these have been made. Now all the abstracts are at Columbus, according to Mr. Hamilton.

The twenty-million-dollar electric power project on the Sho river in Japan, will be completed in 1929.

10 Singers And Dancers Headline Bill At Ceramic

Harry Goodwin's Entertainers Appear in Conjunction With Betty Bronson's Picture, "Everybody's Acting."

Harry Godwin and his 10 entertainers—eight men and two girls, offering top-notch comedy, singing and dancing features, will headline the motion picture—vaudeville bill at the Ceramic thratre today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

This class, a vaudeville attraction, on its way west after an eastern tour, will appear in conjunction with the human interest comedy-drama of life back stage, "Everybody's Acting," a Paramount picture in which Betty Bronson heads a galaxy of film and stage favorites.

Not only is Marshall Neilan credited with having produced and directed the picture, he also wrote the story from which it was adapted. And it's a fascinating tale which Mr. Neilan has evolved.

The opening scenes take place in a small Canadian town way back in 1908. Behind the scenes in a stock company's theatre, a tragedy is enacted when the leading lady's husband murders her. After the man has been hung for his crime, four members of the troupe and a newspaper reporter adopt the orphaned infant daughter

Eight years pass. The strange sexset are living in San Francisoco and the little girl, adored by all five foster fathers is being trained for the stage.

Again the scene shifts. Doris, eighteen years old, is an ingenue with a San Francisco stock company. Her actor guardians are now members of the same troupe; the reporter, an editor. Doris meets Ted Potter, son of an enormously wealthy woman who objects to her son's association with an actress. How the latter uncovers the unpleasant details of the deatus of Doris' parents and how the ultimate consummation of her romance comes about, provide more than a few thrills and heart throbs.

Betty Bronson is superbly cast as the girl who grew up. Ford Sterling, Henry Walthall, Raymond Hitchcock, Edward Martindel and Stuart Holmes all give interesting characterizations, as do Lawrence Gray and Louis Dresser,—the hero and his mother.

Rheumatism the enemy of advancing years

HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH RHEUMATISM

Tried many remedies—Simple home treatment brought relief

A sufferer from acute rheumatism for many years, a Winchester, N. H., man at last found that he could always get rid of the pain, and relieve the swelling and stiffness by a simple home treatment.

"After trying various remedies," he writes, "Sloan's Liniment was recommended to me, and it stopped the pain."

What is the reason for these remarkable results?

Simply that Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up your own forces to get rid of the conditions that are causing the pain.

Apply lightly without rubbing, and at once you'll feel the comforting warmth as fresh, healing blood begins circulating through the affected spot. The stiff, swollen tissues relax, the inflammation goes down, the pain stops, and soon you feel normal again. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All dealers, 35 cents.

HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH RHEUMATISM

Tried many remedies—Simple home treatment brought relief

A sufferer from acute rheumatism for many years, a Winchester, N. H., man at last found that he could always get rid of the pain, and relieve the swelling and stiffness by a simple home treatment.

"After trying various remedies," he writes, "Sloan's Liniment was recommended to me, and it stopped the pain."

What is the reason for these remarkable results?

Simply that Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up your own forces to get rid of the conditions that are causing the pain.

Apply lightly without rubbing, and at once you'll feel the comforting warmth as fresh, healing blood begins circulating through the affected spot. The stiff, swollen tissues relax, the inflammation goes down, the pain stops, and soon you feel normal again. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All [illegible] cents.

Today

Edison Philosophy.
All in Paupers' Graves.
Vanderbilt's Story.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ON his eightieth birthday, Edison was the witch of Endor, answering all questions put him by 50 reporters. Hear the wizard:

Says Ford is right about the five-day week, and the four-day working week is coming.

Is spiritualism "the bunk?"

It is.

When will you retire?

Just before my funeral.

Democracy works fairly well, where the people are fairly intelligent.

Real life, worth while, starts at about 35.

Crime?

It will gradually diminish, because it does not pay.

THERE you have a high percentage of wisdom.

But even Edison is not all wisdom. Asked "what do you think of Russia?" he replied: "They mean well, but the ruling men know nothing of real life."

That, from a scientist in his New Jersey laboratory will amuse men dealing with 200,000 Russian villages, 120,000,000 Russians, 40 languages, 40 races and 40,000 new problems born with the death of the Romanoffs.

When the first agricultural machinery, cutting, threshing and bagging grain was sent to remote Russian districts by the soviet government, priests of the Greek church were dispatched to the fields to reassure superstitious peasants.

That is how it is with some of our best minds, especially as they grow old and rich. They are first over the fence, when you mention any new idea in government. Mr. Edison's opinion of Russian ideas that seeking to make human beings more nearly equal is about the same as the early opinion of public schools, or the abolition of slavery.

EDISON believes in the immortality of the soul, or, like millions of other men relying on reason, not on faith, he tries to believe in it.

It bothers him, because his job in life has been testing and proving. And immortality is something you can't test or prove. The Congo native, wondering at the hippopotamus by day, wishing he could eat it, and wondering at the stars by night wishing he could placate them, knows as much about immortality as Edison.

AS you think of Edison's genius, simplicity and true greatness, don't forget what that genius has done in the practical world for workmen and capitalist and hundreds of millions that use electric light.

The financial side represents a small part of Edison's value, but it is a fact that industries made possible by him represent today a capital of fifteen thousand millions of dollars.

And he is comparatively a poor man, still working hard.

He wishes he had more money, that

Roumanian Queen Quoted as Calling Americans "Swine"

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—"My son was right when he said Americans were a flock of swine."

This statement is attributed to Queen Marie of Roumania in a copyrighted article said to have been written by one of her attendants, appearing in the Chicago Harold Examiner.

The queen also complained that during her recent visit to America she was insulted daily on the streets with such remarks as "Hey, queen, how's the old man?"

"What can you expect from a people who always refer to their president by his first name," the queen is also credited in the article with saying.

Coast Guardsman Lose Lives Near Provincetown, Mass., When Patrolboat is Hammered by Surf.

At least 21 persons had lost their lives today and many millions of dollars in property damage had been done by the terrific storm which swept the Atlantic coast from the Delaware capes to northern Maine over the week-end, accompanied by the highest tide in 50 years and by mountainous seas which wrecked small craft and carried away docks, breakwaters and hundreds of bungalows and houses.

Two Dead In New York.

The death list was headed by the names of eight coast guardsmen who lost their lives when the CG-238 was pounded to pieces on Outer-peaked Hill bar, off Provincetown, Mass. After pulling its anchors in the gale, the small vessel broke up in sight of hundreds of helpless watchers on the beach, who were unable to launch a boat in the raging surf.

Three persons died in New England of exposure, and one due to an accident caused by the blinding snow storm. Five deaths were reported from Pittsburgh and one from Philadelphia, while in New York city two persons were killed when they slipped and fell on icy streets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—A roaring northeast gale, freighted with stinging blasts of sleet and snow, which for the past 48 hours has buffeted the Atlantic coast from the Delaware capes to the Main coast, today had claimed at least 12 lives and had done millions of dollars' property damage. ### Death Trap Arranged by Cleveland Grocer Fulfills Purpose.

BODY IS FOUND

Shotgun Trigger Pulled as Would-be Burglar Steps on Box.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21.—A shotgun, which was fixed to discharge in event of attempted burglary, today had successfully fulfilled the purpose at the grocery and butcher shop of John Hartman here.

As a result the body of an unidentified man is in the city morgue awaiting Bertillon measurement.

A pistol was found lying on the floor near the victim.

Hartman's place has been burglarized three times since Christmas. After the third theft, Hartman determined to put an end to the looting. ## RAIN FORECAST ALARMS VALLEY AS OHIO RIVER RAMPAGE LOOMS

Outpouring of Mountain Snow May Damage Lowlands.

15-inch Fall Occurs in County Towns Since Friday.

With rain forecast tomorrow, rivermen today feared another flood stage in the Ohio, as an aftermath of a 15-inch snowfall in three days.

Although the river was slowly rising during the forenoon, a drop in temperature checked it at 2 o'clock, when the stage as 18.8 feet.

If warm weather and rain follow the snowstorm, accumulations in the mountains will feed into the Ohio, probably causing serious damage in lowlands.

Fire During Storm.

In the midst of the snowstorm, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, damage estimated at about $500 was done by fire to the home of Mrs. George Pennybaker, 413 West Fourth street. Mrs. Pennybaker and her daughter were spending the night at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Thomas Price, Ephriam street, when the blaze, believed to have started when the lead hose on a gas heating stove in the front room melted, was discovered. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The house, a two-family dwelling, is owned by the heirs of William Hall.

Transportation service was crippled Sunday morning but schedules were re-established on the street car lines during the afternoon and evening hours. Automobiles struggled through the snow with difficulty. Drifts, three and four feet in depth, were encountered in the rural sections. Trains over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division operated on time throughout the day, officials reported.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL N. P. KERR CALLS FOR FREE MEDICAL EXAMINATION OF ALL FOOD HANDLERS

Declaring that the city solons had nothing to do with the preparation of the legislation, President of Council N. P. Kerr today assailed the health board plan of charging a fee for medical examinations required under the recently enacted food handlers' health regulations.

Maintaining that the measure was adopted upon the recommendation of Health Commissioner Edward Miskall and the president of the board of health, Kerr said: "Some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for the medical examination is all wrong. If the city wants to force an examination of this character on the workers, the health commissioner should make the examination without charge. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind, and why should the applicant be required to pay an extra fee?

Termed "Freak Legislation"

Indirectly terming the measure "freak legislation," Kerr said:

"We have too many laws now, and not enough common sense used in some of these measures. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of respect for the laws or enforcement of them."

Kerr's said letter, which was addressed to The Review-Tribune, was not written "to censure anyone, but merely to put council right with their constituents."

The letter follows:

"At a meeting on February 3, city council passed an ordinance sanctioned and fostered by the East Liverpool board of health, regulating the conditions under which a person could work in the restaurants, hotels, lunch rooms, etc. This ordinance, No. 3012, makes it compulsory for all employes to take a physical examination twice a year, or as often as the health board sees fit.

"In my estimation some parts of the ordinance are all right, but the clause making the applicant pay a fee for this examination is all wrong, if the city wants to force an examination of the character on the workers, the health commissioner should make this examination free. He is paid a salary by the city and state for work of this kind and there is no reason why the applicant should be made to pay any extra fee.

"The health board president when he brought the ordinance to council never said anything about any fee except the one incorporated in the ordinance, and in justice to the members of council I think that undue criticism has been heaped upon them because of the extra fee that is being charged by the board of health.

The trouble with so many things like this is that they are brought to the council and are lauded to the skies, and council passes the legislation, and then something is added to

CHECK CHARGE IS REVIVED

Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, Goes to County Jail.

An indictment returned by the January grand jury, of 1922, when Judge J. C. Hanley of municipal court, of East Liverpool, was then prosecuting attorney, and charging Mrs. Pearl Ware, of Bayard, with uttering and publishing a forged instrument of the value of $400 is now in the hands of Sheriff George Wright, and Mrs. Ware is in the county jail with two additional affidavits pending against her charging her with similar offenses.

The indictment charges that on Dec. 15, 1921, a check for $400 was issued on the Port Angeles, Wash., state bank payable to Mrs. Ware and made by "L. L. Ware." This check went to protest, was returned to this county and an indictment followed. This check went through the Citizens Savings Bank at Salem.

According to affidavits filed with Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon Saturday, R. M. Prosser, of Bayard, has charged Mrs. Ware with uttering a false check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon, Feb. 5th last, of the purported value of $24, this check being signed by "George Pike" while the affidavit filed by Ora E. Nisson of Bayard, charges the woman with issuing a check on the Peoples State Bank at Lisbon Feb. 1st for $20 and signed by "Geo. Stoffer." The latter check was made payable to "N. Weir" and was endorsed by "Nina Weir." This check went to protest after being cashed by Ora Nisson.

The check that Prosser cashed was made payable to "L. L. Weir" but there was no protest, as the check was not put through the banks.

No time has been set for an arraignment in the last two cases, at the suggestion of Walter W. Beck, counsel for Mrs. Ware.

GENE MAY JOIN GIBSON AGAIN

Reported Ready to Patch up Affairs With Ex-manager.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Advices current today in cauliflower unpreferred and very common were to the effect that James Joseph Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world in several languages, has decided to return to first principles and Billy Gibson. The young man has been far away from both ever since he won the title last September but they say he has begun to think better of it.

Gibson was out like an ex-window as soon as Tunney discovered that he didn't like the day he had been managed into the heavyweight championship. He put Mr. Gibson on an allowance or something and placed his business affairs in the hands of Dudley Field Malone, the barrister who resolutely stationed himself in the bow of a tug and swam the channel in front of Gertrude Ederle.

Dudley is aboard at the moment arranging an exhibition tour for Tunney throughout England and Europe, but they say Gene may turn up quite absent on the dates specified. Dudley, in other words, may yet find himself completely surrounded by air, of which the supply seldom is exceeded by the demand.

Tunney already has mended one of his fences by re-establishing an entente cordiale with a man who split with him over the Gibson business. The intimation that the Tim Mara suit may be settled amicably also indicates a Tunney-Gibson reunion, since Mara was Gibson's friend first and Tunney's adviser afterward.

Tunney's theatrical tour will end March 19 and the word now is that he will head east immediately and go into light conditioning at Speculator, N. Y., where he started to work out for Dempsey. His haste to begin training would appear almost unseemly in view of the belief that Tunney lives the life of a monk.

He does, as a matter of comparison with other fighters, but the fact is that Tunney doesn't carry the thing to the extremes that popular fancy prefers. I know men with whom he has sipped a cocktail. Others have told me that he likes burgundy in moderation. His intimates relate that he drank a bottle of champagne after the Dempsey fight.

This data is not marshalled as an indictment. My reaction to the thought of Tunney sipping a cocktail is that the gentleman must be more human than his uptown manner would indicate. It is this picture of a paragon on a pedestal that has destroyed, as much as anything else, Tunney's chance of being an appealing figure with the public.

MURDER FOLLOWS RING ARGUMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—Eddie Hanlon, once a famous lightweight fighter, today was held in the city prison on a charge of murder following the death of Walter Noonan, 28, proprietor of a market. Noonan bled to death after he had been stabbed in the thigh.

The row between Hanlon and Noonan was said to have started in Hanlon's cafe after the men quarreled concerning ring battles of the past.

Hanlon in his heydey met such fighters as Abe Attell, Battling Nelson, Terry McGovern, Young Corbett and other topnotchers of the profession. Although never a champion, he was considered one of the foremost fighters in his class.

Swede Looked Good Until Work Got too Heavy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Did you ever hear the one about the man who was too lazy to make a million dollars? Laugh, now, and show your molars. Professor Jimmy de Forest has heard of him. James, in fact, knows him well; too well, perhaps.

For James is by profession, instinct and the sweat of his brow a developer and trainer of boxers and, in the course of human events, it is his custom to profit as a result of the association. That is what angers James now. He thought he had a million dollars worth of heavyweight Swede and then the next thing he knew all he had was a tired business man they called Harry Persson.

Harry, it seems, was so tired that he sat down to shave himself, leading the professor to wonder whether he was a Swede at all. I think the professor suspected he was a nephew of Sitting Bull.

It seems to be James' lot to get himself mixed up with pugilistic gentlemen who harbor an aversion for exercise. He handled Luis Firpo, the well-known human being, until the latter decided that all work and no play made Luis a bum fighter. He overestimated the situation, however. He always was a bum fighter.

The professor himself agrees that Persson was and is a better man than Firpo at any stage of course, in the ring. Outside the ropes, the records speak for themselves. Luis got the money and Harry got little or nothing beyond a punch in the nose from Jimmy Maloney. In both cases, the professor was short changed.

He admits, perforce, that Persson might never have reached the million dollar goal but at the same time he can't forget that, two months ago, the Swede's chances were no worse than the next man's.

However, that was two months ago. Today, Persson is no longer with us, having languidly accepted passage to Sweden. He simply was too bored with life to do himself any good.

"He wouldn't walk, he wouldn't run, he wouldn't box," says the professor in his best platform manner. His discourse seemed to be at an end. But suddenly inspiration seized him.

"He wouldn't even think," he added triumphantly.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE.

For a while I surrendered to the luxury of being able to desist from further effort. I rested there in a kind of stupor with just enough sense to realize that I was cold and desperately hungry. My appetite had suddenly returned, which was not surprising, seeing that I had not eaten since the previous evening.

I do not know how long I remained in that position, but it must have been for some considerable time. I believe I was first startled into wakefulness by the abrupt ceasing of the storm and the silence which followed. I only know that when next I came to attention the noise of the rain on the roof had ceased and all was quiet. Then, suddenly, as I made a movement with the object of improving my position, I heard the sound of a door opening below me. Instantly I paused and remained motionless.

Someone was walking in the room beneath me. I heard footsteps and then the click of an electric switch. A moment later I was aware of a faint light coming upwards through little chinks and holes in the ceiling, and soon I was able to inspect my surroundings.

I found I was in some sort of attic

between the ceiling and roof of the chalet. It struck me at once as curious that the chalet should have a ceiling at all, for from outside it had appeared, so far as I remembered, to be merely a building or byre for the housing of cows and sheep in the winter, and I should thus have expected it to be no more than a wooden shell with a stone floor.

I listened again. Footsteps crossed the room and for some considerable time the person below, whoever it might be, moved about as though engaged in setting the apartment in order. Chairs were moved, and I heard the rustle of papers and the opening and closing of cupboard doors.

The door opened and admitted someone.

I was now tingling with excitement and, bending down, concentrated all my efforts on endeavoring to catch what was said in the room below. No further word was spoken, however, but again I heard the rustling of papers.

Presently more footsteps approached from outside. Again there was a knock, again the passwords were exchanged and another newcomer joined the two beneath me. This procedure was repeated fourteen times altogether, in the course of the next half hour, each newcomer being required to repeat the same formula before being allowed to enter. There was an increasing murmur of conversation as the room filled up, and the voices were low and I could catch very little of what was said. It referred, as far as I could hear, only to two topics, the vileness of the weather and the motives which could have led the Center—his name was mentioned frequently throughout—to have summoned "us" (whoever "us" might be) at such an inconvenient place and time. A moment later, amidst a profound silence, I heard a voice I knew only too well.

"Be seated, gentlemen. I am sorry to have kept you waiting."

Immediately beneath me was the Center himself.

There was a short silence. Then I heard once more the rustle of papers and the Center's voice began again.

"I now call roll. Number 1."

"Present."

This procedure was repeated thirteen times, the unknown individuals beneath me answering to their numbers by the single word "present." They pronounced it in every conceivable variety of accent, which led me to the conclusion that the company below was of various nationalities.

"Number 14" continued the Center, when the last unknown individual had replied (he was, I judge, a Welshman by his accent) "is ill, and sends the following telegram: 'Regret severe attack influenza has confined me to bed ston have instructed my secretary, Aaron P. Lowenstein, to act for me.' I have, therefore, pleasure in presenting you with new colleague. We will now pass to adoption of agenda."

There was another pause and then a voice with a slight cockney accent which I could not identify took up the tale. The man was evidently reading rapidly from a paper.

"Agenda. Ninth session. 1. Reports of district heads. 2. Increased price of Persian opium. 3. The Chinese situation. 4. Offer from Finckelstein. 5. Other business."

I realized now what was happening. I had been lying in the chalet some hours; it was now past midnight and the beginning of a new day. That day was the fifteenth, the day to which the Center had constantly referred, and this was the meeting of directors to which he had alluded in his recent revelations; in other words, the "inner ring" of which mention had been made at the meeting of the Opium Committee of the League of Nations which I had attended a short time ago.

I was, in fact, the auditor of proceedings at which the police of many nations would have given untold gold to assist.

I strained my ears to lose no word of what was spoken. I had forgotten my fatigue and my hunger and the personal peril in which I stood.

"Any observations?" asked the Center. "No one ask to speak?" Then, as there was silence, he added, "Agenda adopted."

There was a tap as though a presidential gavel had struck the table.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold weakens your resistance. If you let it "go down" into your chest it always causes congestion in your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

Don't dope YOUR Cough

IT is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery.

PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.

Proposed Bus Legislation

The Review-Tribune has been very friendly in the past in its recognition of the value of bus lines to the public where there is need of them, but we have not favored them where adequate service is being rendered by steam and electric lines, and this is our position today. Bus lines in territory not otherwise supplied with passengers transportation are desirable. The field for such transportation is wide and the magnitude possible of attainment by it can hardly be more than guessed at today. But the paralleling of steam and electric lines by bus lines is unfair—unfair to both rail lines and bus lines alike—for such a division of business as it is bound to entail can hardly be profitable to any line affected by it.

At present bus lines are under the supervision of the state utilities commission, which has taken much the same position as herein set forth in the protection of steam and electric lines, moved so to do probably by the fact that the steam and electric lines are heavy taxpayers operating over their own rights-of-way which must be maintained by them at their own great expense, while the bus lines are operating over the highways of Ohio, built and maintained at public expense. The utility commission decides if there is necessity for bus lines, where and when they may establish services, when they may merge with other lines and when they may abandon their services. As the commission has supervision over steam and electric lines running over their own right-of-way, it is not unfair that it should also have supervision as the agent of the public, over the bus lines which operate over the highways of the public, but it is apparent that the bus lines are seeking to get outside of and away from this supervision.

There is proposed legislation pending in the state legislature, which seems to have decided strength behind it, which, it has been openly charged at committee hearings, would take bus lines from the supervision of the state utilities commission and enable them to establish routes where and when they may desire, merge lines when and with whom they desire, and abandon service whenever they may desire.

If the proposed measure being considered by the senate and hause can be utilized as charged, the latitude of the power to be conferred by it is so great that some restraining influence to curb abuses seems to us to be imperative. It gives far too much power to the bus people with comparatively little at stake and takes far too much away from the people of Ohio, who have been forced to expend their millions to construct and maintain paved highways and are still being forced to spend other millions by the score to construct and maintain still other highways.

The general assembly should exercise caution in the consideration of the proposed measure.

Doughboys Abroad

France is making elaborate preparations for welcoming and entertaining the American Legionnaires when they go to Paris for their convention next summer. There will be ample accommodations for them in the gay capital, and every facility for revisiting the scenes where they fought and suffered.

England, too, is getting into the game, though it isn't England's party. There is a "Come to Britain" organization, making special inducements for the doughboys to visit that country. They will find it easier to get into England, and easy to get around when there. Not the least of the attractions offered to lure them is the opportunity of attending summer schools at the universities. English colleges will compete with the Paris boulevards for their patronage.

Europe may dislike America, but there need be no fear of that dislike being visited upon the American soldiers. Memory of the help they brought in a time of great trouble, and the spirit in which they brought it, will revive at the sight of them. They are good ambassadors. Their presence abroad may bring a fairer, kindlier feeling toward their country.

Obstacles to Disarmament

France thinks disarmament ought to be managed by the League of Nations, with 40 countries participating instead of only four or five.

That is all right—if the 40 will do it. It matters little through what agency the disarmament is effected. The essential thing is to disarm, before arms competition results in another international blow-up. The United States should have no difficulty in co-operating with the League for such a purpose.

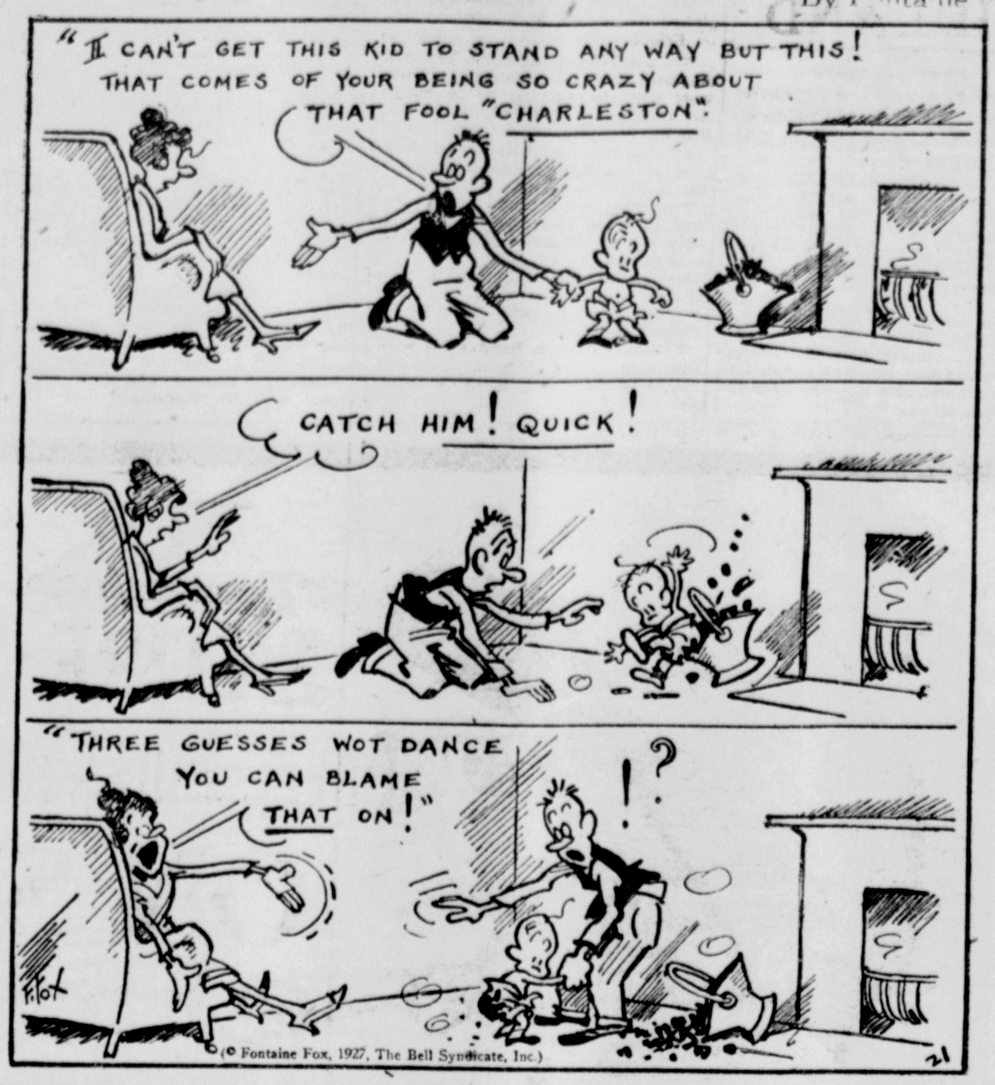

The real obstacle to disarmament may be Italy, which also refuses the American invitation to an arms conference. France obviously fears Italy, and hesitates accordingly to restrict her military power. The news suggests sound reasons for that attitude.

"Throughout Italy," says a recent cable, "arsenals and munition factories are working at high pressure. There are big orders for machine guns and tanks, for gun sights and army unifoms, for shells and cartridges. Italy is getting ready."

Just what the preparation is for, nobody seems to know for certain. It may be a new Balkan war, an invasion of the Near East, or something else. Every foreign office in Europe is disturbed by it.

If Geneva can curb Italy now, as it did when Mussolini started to attack Greece a couple of years ago, there may be a chance for real progress in disarmament.

BASED ON THE CURRENCY SYSTEMS

The late Charles E. Van Loan, a splendid story-teller in his own right and equally adept as a story-writer, used to love to tell this one:

An ambitious promoter undertook to stage a prize-fight between two heavyweights at a little Mexican town just over the national boundary from California. The fight was advertised to go for twenty rounds.

From both sides of the line a great crowd gathered, the majority of those present being Mexicans.

A somewhat inexperienced but quick-witted Texan acted as referee. It subsequently developed that, contrary to the ethics, the referee had a private bet on one of the scrappers. Midway of the fight, it appeared highly probably that his favorite shortly would be knocked out and so, to save his money, the referee, declared the bout a draw and ended it right there.

Enraged and disappointed, the audience rose up, shouting threats. The native contingent was especially vociferous. A first-class riot was threatened.

But the imperiled referee had a smart notion in reserve. By waving his arms and shouting that he had a statement to make, he secured compartive silence. Then he made his announcement and it proved eminently satisfactory. The Americans present saw the point of the joke; the Mexicans were appeased because the explanation seemed to them perfectly sound.

"Gentlemen," the referee said, "this was advertised as a twenty round fight and that's exactly what it's been—twenty rounds Mex. or ten rounds American."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early abroad to breakfast and so famished I wolfed a chine of beef and there arose talk of a white novelist spending much time with negroes of Harlem. And it was said he had cast his lot with them.

So home to read my mail and Lord! the bills and Leon Errol, the comic, came with this drollery and that and mighty spruce, too, in tweeds with a green stripe. Afterward to a recital of songs, which seemed dull to my toneless ears.

In the evening to Lee Olwell's and saw movies he had taken of burials in the Ganges and stopped to see Nell and Gene Crawley, but they away, so I sat in their reception hall waiting and slept until 11 o'clock. So home to bed.

New York has colonies of nearly all nations—save the Mexican. They do not migrate far from border towns. A few years ago a small Mexican colony sprung up along upper Fifth avenue. They were mostly laborers, but tarried briefly. The Mexican among aliens will insist he is Spanish and they drifted to that section.

In a straggly Brooklyn street there are two Eskimo families. They came to town with various explorers and did not return north again. One of them, fittingly enough, is the driver of an ice wagon. There are many Japanese in New York, but they do not segregate.

While some are valets, waiters and chauffeurs, the great majority are well off financially and are connected with importing houses or specialty stores. They seek the best neighborhoods and live in an opulent manner above the average.

It is noticed that on Sundays or holidays many well dressed Japanese roam about, snapping kodak pictures. This often gives rise to spy gossip. A Japanese tells me it is common custom among natives of his land, wherever they go, and means nothing. Perhaps so. But Japan frowns on the same thing.

Some 200 New York girls have married Japanese during the past 10 years. Almost invariably the Nipponese select the fragile type of blonde. As a rule such a marriage severs Occidental ties and wives live in isolation. There is a red-haired telephone girl who married a Japanese and after his death in the Yokohoma earthquake married a Chinese restaurateur.

Eddie Cantor is the latest star to desert New York for Hollywood. The stage will not see him for many years. He has bought a 14-room home on the west coast and moved his family there. Cantor came out of the grim tenements of Grand street to make Broadway laugh, but has not forgotten those left behind. Each year he gladly pays the check for a two weeks' outing for the boys and girls of his own neighborhood, denied the youthful pleasures for which Cantor, too, once longed.

It is proposed to call the preening Peacock Alley of a new hotel "The Corral." The original Peacock Alley was that in the historic Waldorf. A statistician has found there are 29 hotel promenades similarly named in various parts of the world. There is even a Peacock Alley in a dinky little inn in Uganda.

The latest in psychological potpourri is on upper Broadway where a sign proclaims: "We cure timidity." It would be a joy to have some of the shy darlings of the hat check rooms matriculate there.

The average New Yorker is of the opinion that timidity, if any, is a virtue that should be left entirely alone. We have few enough shrinking violets in this shin kicking hamlet.

Another sign on upper Broadway: "Baby carriage pushers for hire by the hour." And the explanation is a half block away, where another sign reads: "No bridge scholars taken for six weeks. All classes are filled."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Fruits From the Orient.

WASHINGTON, DD. C., Feb. 21—Persimmons that average four inches in diameter and that may be stored out of doors in winter conditions of snow and ice, unprotected save for a light covering of straw mats, supplemented by a loose hay, straw, litter or corn stalks may be produced in the United States in years to come. At least, cuttings from which the trees that bear them may be grown are among the treasure trove which agricultural explorer P. H. Dorsett, office of plant introduction, Federal Bureau of Plant Industry, is bringing back from the Orient, where he spent two and a half years in China and the tropical islands of Sumatra, Java and Ceylon.

Mr. Dorsett's mission was to find plants that might be useful in American agriculture, and he made thousands of selections of seeds, plants, scions, bulbs, tubers and cuttings.

This plant material will be inspected carefully to make sure that it is free from pests and disease and will then be grown for a time in detention as a further precaution lest objectionable pests be introduced into this country. Then it will be distributed among government scientists, state experimental stations, and other experimental gardens to determine its adaptability to our conditions of soil and climate, its possible use for breeding work, and its other qualities. It may be a decade or more before the public gets the benefit of all this work, but in the end, past experience indicates, something of great value will come out of it.

The persimmons mentioned were found in northern China. It is believed that the manner in which they were stored there, corded up in great beds to a depth of six fruits along the terraced river banks, in orchards, and in the gravelly river beds, is not duplicated any place else in the world. The size of the fruit is also exceptional, but the scientists do not testify as yet as to how palatable it is. Obviously there is a lot of pucker in a persimmon four inches in diameter.

Other Oriental Fruits.

In all the explorer secured a collection of 100 Chinese fruits. Among them was a wild apricot from the rocky mountain sides of Manchuria that are otherwise barren of vegetation except for a few weeds and a little grass. The fruit is not much to speak of, being small, dry, and mostly seed, but the plant is extremely hardy and the experts think it may possibly be used in developing an apricot for sections in the United States farther north than the apricot now fruits. The tree grows to be but four or five feet in height and it may be used as a dwarfing stock for orchardists in the growing of other commercial fruit crops in the northwest.

A wild grape that grows rank all over the mountains where it was found, a heavy yielder and largely used in making claret, is another feature of the collection. Of course it can not be used for claret purposes in this country—not, at least, until the light wines and beer dreams of the wets come true—but it is of potential value, it is said, for the breeding of a hardy table grape for the more northern parts of the United States where grapes are not now being grown.

A wild grapefruit, believed to be unlike anything every before brought into the United States, was found in the tropical jungle of northern Sumatra. The fruit is extremely bitter and practically of no use as grown at present, but it is thought may be of value in citrus breeding.

"Because of the importance of wheat and barley in this country and the increasing importance of soy beans and mung beans special attention was given to securing new varieties of these crops," says the departmental announcement. "What is considered as perhaps the best collection of soy bean varieties ever brought to the United States is the one made by the Dorsetts—Mr. Dorsett had his son as his collaborator in exploration—in Manchuria with the help of B. W. Skvortgow, a Russian botanist teaching agriculture in the high school at Harbin, Manchuria."

Upon learning of the mission of the Americans this Russian scientist planted 100 varieties of soy beans in his botanical garden, and when the Dorsetts visited the place in the fall after the fall after the harvest they were told to take what they wanted, plant and all. The foresight and cooperation of the Russian saved investigators in this country a year's time in securing material for study.

Mexican Controversy Eases Pani's Selection Soothing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. — Ex-Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani of Mexico, who comes to the United States, so it's reliably reported, to confer, as President Calles' representative, with American companies which have oil interests south of the Rio Grande, is a queer individual for a president supposedly as stiff necked a radical as Calle to send on such a mission.

Alberto J. Pani

Not that Pani is "persona non grata" with American "big interests." On the contrary they like him very well indeed. That's just why it seems so odd that Calles chose him to talk business with them.

True, Pani was Calles' minister of finance for a space, but that was because he's a capable financier. Calles had to have a good one, so he put up with Pani, who has interests of his own in Mexico which he didn't want to see jeopardized by a crash put up with Calles, too, to prevent a national crisis if he could.

Pani never pretended to be in sympathy with the present Mexico City administration. He would have been a good deal more at home in the old Diaz regime. Calles never took off his hot to anything about Pani except his financial-acumen.

Even at that, Pani was so far out of harmony with his surroundings that finally he resigned and was appointed ambassador to France, as everybody assumed to get him out of the way.

And here he turns up on this side of the border with Calles' authority to see what he can do with the American oil men.

In Mexico City, as minister of finance, Pani simply was a super-clerk who thoroughly knew his job but was all the time under Calles' thumb. As a negotiator abroad he certainly will have to have a fairly free hand, if he's to do any good.

To be sure, he hasn't diplomatic authority. He can make no bargain with Secretary of State Kellogg. Still, it would be a waste of time to dispatch him to see even the oil men unless Calles pays some attention to what he reports. Nobody can doubt that he'll report some compromise in favor of the oil men and Calles has insisted hitherto that he wouldn't yield an inch.

Naturally there's a good deal of wondering in Washington if the Mexican president isn't thinking now of giving a little ground.

There are respects in which Pani's a good man for his mission.

The American oil men and their bankers recognize in him a kindred spirit, with whom they won't be uppish and domineering, as they've inclined to be with Calles.

He can talk turkey with them and tell them just what, in his opinion, they can't get short of fighting for it. And they'll believe him, for they know Pani doesn't want war. At the first sign of an armed clash between the United States and Mexico, his investments in Mexico would go smash.

So he certainly will be an influence for peace.

Many say that Pani was Gen. Obregon's choice, not Calles'.

Obregon was president before Calles. He virtually made Calles his successor. Most folk think Calles will make Obregon his successor in turn. The Mexican constitution having been fixed so he can.

Obregon says no, he doesn't want to be president again but few are convinced. At any rate, he has a strong pull in Mexico City, and Pani saw him before he left for New York.

Haskin's Letter

ward of 9,000,000 acres in that region is devoted to the crop. Approximately 4,000,000 acres of soy beans were grown in the United States last year as the result of previous importations. It is hoped that among the new varieties will be found some that are adaptable to sections of the country to which the crop is as yet a stranger.

Mung beans constitute another staple crop in Manchuria and in many parts of China proper which is of coming economic importance in the United States, says the senior Mr. Dorsett. In their native country they are used as mung bean sprouts and are an important source of the best bean vermicelli. Mr. Dorsett believes there is a place for the mung bean in this country and that we should grow more of the crop.

Sixty per cent of the barley grown in the United States is the result of one introduction from Manchuria, and many varieties of barley were included in the Dorsett collection. Ultimately more than 500 seed packets of wheat, barley, soy beans and other grains from northern Manchuria will be received.

This is a region where agricultural explorers have never been able to penetrate. No railroads enter it, and mail, which is carried by foot runners, may be several months on the way. Through the cooperation of the postal commissioner of Manchuria, samples of the major crops enumerated are being obtained from the areas served by each of th 500 rural postal stations. Many packets of seeds have already been received and others are coming in constantly.

When the collection is finally accumulated it will be a valuable source of new plant material for selection and plant-breeding purposes, and one that was made at very little cost to the United States so far as cost of plant material is concerned.

They may be being rough to foreigners in China these days, but the Dorsetts were certainly accorded anything but that kind of treatment. For example, their expedition was materially aided by the Chinese Eastern Railroad, through the cooperation of the chief of the land department, M. K. Gordeyeff—another Russian, by the way—who placed at the disposal of the explorers, free of expense, a private car completely equipped with living quarters. They were thus able to travel from station to station, making stops of a week or more to travel on foot into the interior.

WHY DO YOU OVERLOOK CATARRH?

People who are not well are very likely to have catarrh as the real cause. Sometimes the only apparent symptom is a congestion in the nose and throat, but in these cases, if the sufferer could only see the real difficulty, the disease has extended to the stomach and bowels. There it is shown by constipation, torpid liver and often kidney touble.

Real Cause of Sickness

Why shouldn't it be? Practically every fluid that aids in digestion or excretion must pass through mucous membrane. How can these fluids be right when they must go through the stagnant inflammation we call catarrh?

But usually we treat the other symptoms. We use violent cathartics, we whip the liver and we take so-called aids to digestion. Sometimes they help a little, but it always comes back to this—we must clear up the catarrh before we can be well.

That is jusy why World's Tonic is so valuable. This wonderful remedy not only tones up the whole body, enriches the blood and steadies the nerves, but it also gets at the cause—the catarrh that is poisoning the whole body. When that is gone, the body itself will take care of the symptoms. Get rid of the cause. Take World's Tonic. You will know you are on the right course when you take the first bottle.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Tragedy Prevents

WEIRTON FREIGHT BUSINESS CLIMBS

Freight Agent P. K. Webner, of the Weirton Pennsylvania freight office, reports that business both on incoming and outgoing freight for the month of January, 1927, shows an increase of 25 per cent over that of the same month in 1926. Mr. Webner also reports that the present month would likely show a decided increase over January, due to a growth in business in Weirton.

Improvements at the Weirton Junction yards for the present year will include the construction of additional tracks. Workmen are now busily engaged at the Junction in making fills, preparatory to the laying of new tracks.

Work during the past two years at the Junction by the Foley Construction company of Pittsburgh, included the laying of 1,100 ties nad several miles of new rails. The company is now engaged in completing their work, which is expected during the coming summer.

Construction work by the Pennsylvania company in and about Weirton is expected to continue, with the building expansion of the Weirton Steel company, which will increase business considerably during the next two years, with the completion of the new strip steel addition.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Manticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

NEW PUSH LOOMS

Reign of Terror Shows No Signs of Abating.

LONDON, Feb. 21. -- Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that an agreement has been signed between Owen O'Malley, British charge in China, and Eugene Chen, Nationalist foreign minister, relative to the future administration of Hankow, a British concession.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21.—While the Cantonese continue their push against Shanghai, reports were received today of a definite break between the northern allies, who are operating against the Cantonese.

Despite the appeal of Chank Tso Lin to Wu Pei Fu for cooperation, it was reported today that Wu Pei Fu has decided not to permit Chang Tso Lin's forces to enter Honan in their march against the Cantonese.

A large detachment of Chang Tso Lin's forces is reported to have been disarmed by Wu Pei Fu, when they attempted to cross the frontier into Honan.

Ammunition trains belonging to Chang Tso Lin have also been seized by Wu Pei Fu.

Despite the drizzling rain crowds of morbid Chinese today continued to gather in the street and gaze upon the gruesome sight of their decapitated fellow countrymen.

Sixty alleged Chinese agitators, who have been decapitated, are now on display in the streets of Shanghai as a terrible warning of the fate that befalls those who attempt disorders.

Police Behead Victims.

The reign of terror begun Saturday by the Chinese military authorities showed no sign of abating today. Chinese police prowl the streets armed with executioners' swords, beheading their victims as they arrest them.

Students, laborers, idlers and professional agitators have fallen beneath the executioners' knives.

The tram cars and omnibuses resumed operation today, and the department stores reopened, but the strike is spreading. Virtually all the factories located in Chinese territory have closed. The repressive acts of the military authorities, instead of halting the strike, has aggravated conditions.

The wharf coolies quit today, holding up the loading and unloading of cargo. As a consequence, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia halted at Woosung at the mouth of the Yangtze, sixteen miles down the river, prior to proceeding on the Hongkong.

Restoring Order in Hangshow.

The drizzling rain which began Saturday is still falling.

The second battalion of the Suffolk regiment and a Japanese gunboat and submarine arrived at the Whangpoo docks today.

The Nationalists were reported to be restoring order in Hangchow, rounding up the defeated Sun Chuan-Fang stragglers, shooting many for looting and incorporating others into the Nationalist armies.

Altogether 800 houses and shops were looted in Hangchow. The shops on reopening are eflying the Nationalist flag.

Thousands of laborers here held demonstrations Sunday welcoming the Nationalists to the city.

Intelligence officers operating here declare that General Sun Chuan-Faag is prepared to flee if he is defeated at his present stand. He is reported to have booked passage to Japan.

Plan To Defend Shanghai.

PEKIN, Feb. 21.—The northern government plans for a general offensive in defense of Shanghai, it was announced today by General Yang Yu Ting chief of staff for Marshal Chang to Slin.

General Chang Tsung has left for Nanking fully empowered to defend Shanghai at all costs against the Cantonese.

General Sun Chaun Fang has finally requested Fengtien aid in his campaign and has called for a counter attack in Chekiang, if any attempt is made to cut the Shanghai-Nanking railroad, thus isolating Shanghai.

Fengtien troops plan to attack Hankow the moment the Cantonese strike at Shanghai.

Undaunted by the turbulence of life in China, 400 tourists, chiefly Americans from the Empress of Scotland, arrived at Chingwangtao today and boarded trans for Peking for a four-day stay.

The Peking government has provided special trains to carry the visitors to the great wall of China, and to the battlefields fought over last summer.

SLAYER GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Harold F. Webster, former Florida real estate salesman, was today sentenced to serve from 20 years to life in Sing Sing prison by County Judge Lewis H. Smith.

Webster was convicted last week of second degree murder. He killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Gallaway, in Hempstead, in January.

TODAY

he might make more costly experiments. Experimenting with new inventions, he told the reporters, is the most interesting thing in the world, bring new truths out of the unknown.

Once he told Henry Ford of a wonderful machine, able to grind steel so fine that it would float on water. Edison said he was going to buy one for experiments, as soon as he could afford it.

Ford immediately bought two, one for himself, one for Edison. He, Ford, does not have to wish for more money. He's got it.

EVERYBODY saw the big headlines "Heir to $4,000,000 in Pauper's Grave," and many sympathized, thoughtlessly. Every heir to four millions, or four hundred millions, lies in a pauper's grave, for every corpse is a pauper. He has not pockets in shrouds, no bank accounts in the place to which he can go from here. Let that comfort you, if you lack your first million. But don't let it interfere with trying to get it. Struggling for what we don't need impels us to do work that the world does need.

THERE is money in the auto industry, all kinds of it, if you know the business. Ask Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors. Recently that concern distributed a bonus of 50 per cent of stock to its stockholders. Now, Mr. Sloan announces that the $7 paid annually on the old amount of stock is to be increased to $8 per year, on the greater amount of stock, more stock, then more dividend. The pleasant thing about the automobile business is that it always gets better. In 1925 General Motors earned $106,484,000. In 1926 the company earned $190,000,000, increase $84,000,000 net.

Mr. Sloan says figures thus far this year show dealers' sales to ultimate consumers for January above 80,000 cars and trucks. In January, 1926, the figure was 53,698 cars and trucks. It's folly to talk of a "saturation point" in auto industries. The industry, Edison says, is just starting.

YOUNG Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., in Sunday's newspapers, tells of some of his experiments, intimately. Some of his family wanted him to be a snob, which, as others would say, "is not a business." They thought Yale was too plebian and Harvard would supply the right atmosphere. He gives other details, revealing how wealth does its best to ruin the chances of the children.

More important. If you ask him, young Vanderbilt will tell what happened to those that bought stock in his tabloid newspapers, published in three cities. They lost millions of dollars, and others now buying tabloid newspaper stock, in the innocence of their hearts and pocketbooks, might investigate. Mark this, there is no better security than bonds issued against a real well established solid newspaper or magazine. In a newspaper worth while, you can not buy any stock, none is for sale.

VETS REFUSED $14,700 FUND

War Chest Trustees Turn Down Legion Request.

Request for an appropriation of $3,700 for relief work among ex-service men and their orphans and $11,000 for a Legion home was refused by the trustees of the war chest at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon.

The request was made by representatives of East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion, who asked for the transfer of $2,700, representing this city's share of the proposed $5,000,000 Legion endowment fund, $1,000 for local activities.

W. S. Foulks, secretary of the board, and D. M. Ogilvie, approved the request for $3,700, while Robert M. Brookes, chairman, and James S. Hilbert, treasurer, opposed it.

The Legion also asked for $11,000 to liquidate the mortgage on the Dresden avenue home but this was rejected without a record vote.

O. W. Schmitz, Indianapolis, special representative from the national Legion headquarters, discussed the proposed endowment fund. Legion spokesmen asserted that two East Liverpool families are now receiving $70 per month from the fund. Other cases for relief are now pending, it is claimed.

Financial report of the board submitted by Hilbert showed the fund to total $53,493.43. This is on deposit in three local building and loan institutions. This report will be filed with the common pleas court.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey was the only member of the board who did not attend the meeting.

Rivermen Fear Flood

port district, Copeland said. The heaviest snow on record was a 20-inch fall on April 19 and 20, 1901, he said.

County and state road men started out at 11 o'clock Sunday morning with seven snow plows to open improved roads of the county. The force was still on the job today, but all roads and main highways were open. At places it was necessary to hitch two trucks together in order to break through the deep drifts.

Street Cars Operate.

The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company had two sweepers and one scraper in the East Liverpool district and one sweeper and one scraper in the Steubenville district Sunday. Some difficulty was experienced in cutting a path through the drifts on the hill lines, delaying the first cars. There was little delay on the interurban lines.

No trouble due to the storm was experienced by the Ohio Bell Telephone company, officials said.

Snow continued to fall this morning. Gutters were clogged with snow and ice which had been shoveled from the sidewalks.

Street Commissioner Oliver Buzzard had his force of men at work clearing cross walks Sunday and today. The traction company removed the snow from the central part of the Diamond where the main line, East End and Chester cars and River Road bus stop.

Stranded Towboat Is Floated.

The towboat, "City of Pittsburgh," which went aground at the head of Line Island Thursday night while enroute to New Orleans with a cargo of steel from the Pittsburgh plant of the Carnegie Steel company, resumed her trip at 9 o'clock Saturday night when the barges were floated by high water.

The barges were removed one by one until all had been floated. The boat, which was making its maiden voyage at the time of the accident, was delayed for about 48 hours. Neither the boat nor the barges were damaged.

Six Columbus Gas Stations Robbed; One Man is Shot

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—Six gas filling station holdups occurred here over the week-end and early today, while doctors at White Cross hospital were fighting to save the life of Jack Noon a filling station attendant. Noon was shot by a negro bandit when he resisted an attempted holdup.

Two white bandits early today forced a filling station attendant to lie on the floor, after making him open the safe, and fled with $75. Total loot from the six holdups was about $300.

Family Flees as $15,000 Fire Sweeps Store at Whitmore

FREMONT, O., Feb. 21.—Neighbors today were caring for the family of John Tucker, general storekeeper at Whitmore, near here, following a $15,000 fire caused by an overheated furnace. Members of the family escaped in their night clothes. The store, lodge rooms and dance hall were destroyed.

RUDNER DENIES PHONE CALL IN MELLETT DEATH

Alleged "Pay-off" Man Faces Fire of Former Prosecutor.

TRIAL AT CANTON

Defendant Declares he Received no Message From McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—The high spot of today's proceedings in the trial of Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware man, who is charged with first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was the recall to the stand of William Brumme, Massillon salesman, by the defense. Brumme testified several days ago for the state.

This morning he was asked by George Gordon Battle, of defense counsel if he "didn't want to change his former testimony that Rudner had introduced him to Pat McDermott at Rudner's store in Massillon."

"No, I don't want to change it," it's the truth," answered Brumme.

CANTON, O., Feb. 21.—Cross examination of Ben Rudner, on trial for his life here, charged with complicity in the killing of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, was resumed today by ex-Stark county Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was questioned concerning is alleged connection with Pat McDermott, convicted slayer of the newspaperman.

McClintock asked the acused man about a phone call said to have been made from the home of Kitty Barnes, Cleveland, to Ben Rudner, in Massillon July 21. McDermott was staying at the Barnes home at that time.

Rudner said he never received such a call.

In answer to a question concerning a call July 26 from Akron by a man name Jones, Rudner testified he never received and such call but that he did get a call on that date from his brother-in-law, Jack Greenberg.

"You heard Greenberg testify that he never used the name Jones, didn't you," McDermott asked.

"Yes" replied Rudner, "but the phone girl might have twisted the names."

"As a matter of fact, Ben, Pat McDermott called you on that day, didn't he? queried McDermott.

"Pat McDermott never called me," was the reply.

Asked if he knew Louis Mazer, Rudner said that he did. He testified, however, that he did not know Mazer was a "bootlegger" prior to Puly 1926.

seaside resort. In these latter places many houses were smashed or undermined and carried away by the high waters.

The New Jersey coast, Staten Island and Long Island were particularly hard-hit. The beaches of these vicinities were littered for miles with the debris of wrecked houses and the battered hulks of barges and small ships.

Eight coast guardsmen lost their lives near Provincetown, Mass., when their vessel, patrolboat 238, was grounded and hammered to pieces by the pounding surf. The raging seas held helpless destroyers which stood by in the hope of aiding the crew of the stricken vessel, and a crowd of watchers who gathered along the shore within plain sight of the wreck.

Three Ships Wrecked.

Numerous accidents were reported from all localities hit by the storm, the result of pedestrians slipping on ice, and the skidding of motor vehicles.

Many families living in the vicinity of the beaches were marooned on the upper floors and roofs of their dwellings. Others who escaped before the rising water cut off their retreat, found themselves homeless.

Many vessels and barges were reported in distress. Three ships were reported to have been wrecked south of Asbury Park, N. J., last night. The crew from one ship was rescued by the coast guard. The crews of the other two, the number of persons not known, were in dire perid but beyond the reach of rescuers until the heavy seas would subside.

The barge Talbert of New York, with men, women and children on board, was reported in distress 18 miles off New York. A coast guard patrol boat was sent to her rescue.

Two Bodies Washed Ashore

BOSTON, Feb. 21. — Twelve dead and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed was the toll by a northeast gale and snow storm that still shrieked along the northern Atlantic seaboard today.

Eight coastguardsmen fought a losing battle against the raging sea and up-mile-an-hour gale off Cape Cod, as the 70-foot patrolboat CG-238 went to pieces. Two bodies were washed ashore and search was under way along the sandy arm of the cape today for more bodies.

On the mainland, William Roach, Quincy, died from exposure while operating a snow plow.

Charles S. Candy, Montreal, was found dead from exposure in a doorway.

Richard F. Barry, of Malden, blinded by snow, was killed by a taxicab.

Philomena Ruoisse, of Leominster, was found dead from exposure in a snow bank in that city.

The shore line was strewn with wreckage of craft, large and small. Coast guard patrol boat CG-281 was high and dry at Vineyard Haven but the crew did not suffer the same fate as the CG-238, having waded safely ashore.

The five-masted schooner Nancy, of Philadelphia, was beside the Surfside railroad station at Nantasket beach. Her crew of nine men and "Paddy," the ship's car, were rescued by a volunteer crew in a dory.

The dredger Lydia was ashore and breaking up in Provincetown harbor.

Two motor-driven fishing craft were on the rocks at Plymouth.

The steamship Lake Gorin was in peril but holding off Cape Cod as a result of warnings received from the naval compass station.

A coal barge was ashore off the Dolliver's Neck coastguard station, Gloucester.

Leviathan Hugs Port.

The world's largest steamship, the Leviathan, did not venture out.

General John J. Pershing was held back by the high winds and snow drifts. Enroute from Boston to Exeter academy, Exeter, N. H., to visit his son, the overseas commander of the A. E. F., with General Mark L. Hersey, was forced to "surrender" and proceed back to Boston in their automobile.

Much property damage was done by the storm ashore. A roof was blown off a three-story apartment house in Dorchester. Scores of plate glass windows were blown out in stores. The town of Winthrop on the seashore was flooded in the low-lying sections and wires, short circuited by ice and wind, put the entire community in darkness during the night. The government pier at Nahant was undermined as were several cottages. Nahant, too, was without electric current.

Six Victims in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—Held in the grip of the most severe snowstorm of a decade, Pennsylvania today took stock of the damage wrought by the snow, sleet and ice which have wrought havoc throughout the state for the past 48 hours.

The storm claimed five victims in Pittsburgh and one in Philadelphia.

Ranging in depth from four inches in the eastern part of the state to twenty-four inches in the western part, the snow was augmented today by the continuous, steady fall, which the weather bureau said would continue throughout the day.

Untold damage to property, especially that of telephone, telegraph and other public utilities, was done by the storm. The telephone company said 15,000 poles were down in eastern Pennsylvania alone. Many more were down in western Pennsylvania.

West Virginia also suffered heavily. Telephone communication with most parts of that state was cut off entirely due to wires snapping under the strain of snow and ice.

POTTER FACES LIQUOR CHARGE

Louis Reynolds Arrested After Police Find Five Half Pints.

Louis Reynolds, Second street potter, was arrested at the Buckeye plant of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, today, following a liquor raid upon his home in which five half pint bottles of moonshine whisky were confiscated.

The raid was made, according to McDermott, upon the receipt of complaints that Reynolds was selling liquor. The liquor, it is alleged, was found under several loaves of bread in a bread box.

Reynolds, who is charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, was remanded to jail to await a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley, who is not expected to return from Columbus until Wednesday morning.

Howard Jackson is being held in default of a $100 fine assessed against him by Judge Hanley Sunday upon a charge of transporting liquor. Jackson was arrested Saturday night in Mulberry street by Patrolman Herman Roth. He is alleged to have been carrying five half pints of whisky when searched.

John "Glory" Hughes, St. Clair avenue kilndrawer, and Harold Duffy were taken to the county jail at Lisbon this morning to serve out fines of $50 and costs assessed against them on charges of intoxication. They were arrested in West Third street Saturday afternoon.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — Though reactionary at the opening of the market today, the railroad stocks promptly assumed the leadership of the upward movement, many of the stocks in this group duplicating the high prices of last week. The industrials and motor stocks were irregular, the exception being the packing company stocks and Baldwin Locomotive, the latter bursting forward with a new 6 point advance to a record high price of 196.

Proximity to the Washington's birthday holiday, and the quite general interruption of wire service to the important outside speculative centers, detracted somewhat from the normal bullish factors affecting stock prices. Speculators were more inclined to lighten their load than to "load up" prior to the holiday, and stocks were sold in professional speculative quarters. Wabash and Lehigh Valley were strong and active. Rumors of a probable cut in Mid-Continent crude oil prices unsettled the oil stocks.

The forward move in Wilson & Company carried prices of the three issues a point or more. International Tel. & Tel. moved up in company with all American cables as a result of the contemplated merger of the two companies. Leow's, Inc., gained about three points more, to sell at its record high price. Independent steel stocks were firm, with Bethlehem up about a point.

Elsewhere the market was quiet and featureless, with the volume of sales tapering off in the second hour. Call money 4 per cent.

the measure as a side issue. Then council is the goat.

"I want to say that council had nothing to do with the preparation of this ordinance, and passed it on the recommendation of health board representatives, they saying it was essential to the health of the community.

"I thing if the authorities would enforce some of the ordinances already on the books it would be much better than to pass freak legislation that is soon forgotten.

"We have to many laws now, and not enough common sense used. The books are cluttered with legislation, and a greater portion of it is never thought of, either in the way of repeal for or enforcement of the laws.

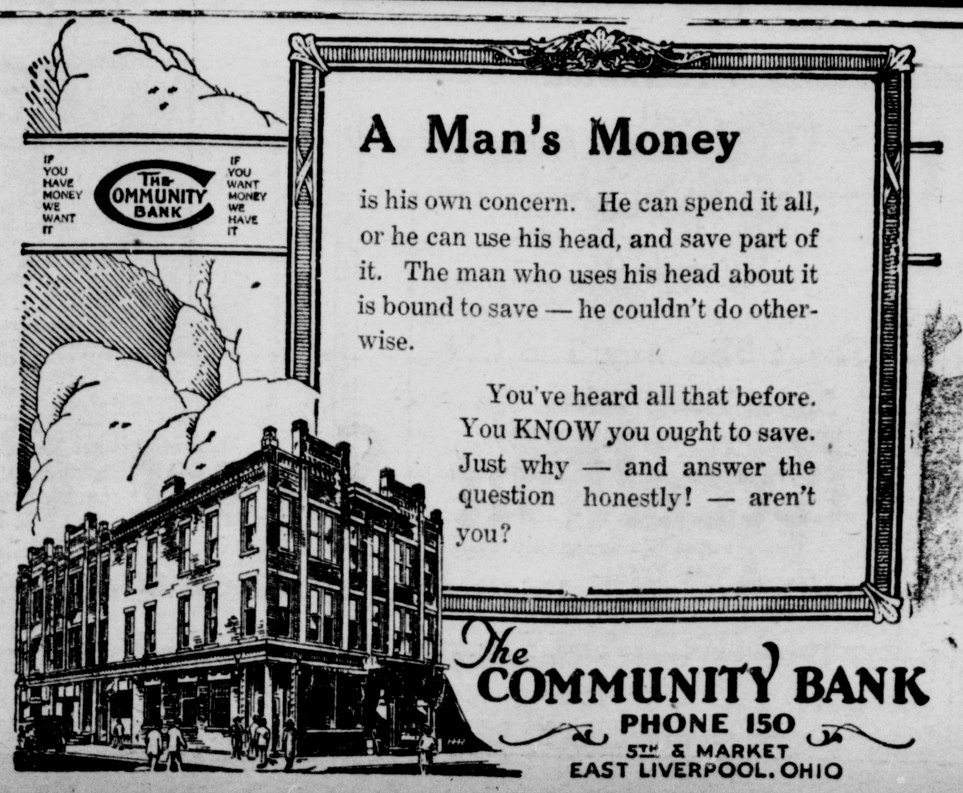

"I think if the board of health would use some of their surplus energy in trying to place the collection of garbage on the general tax duplicate, in place of the manner in which it is being collected, they would be doing a wonderful piece of work for this community. They could then stop the throwing of garbage in other peoples back yards, for there would be no need of anyone trying to shirk having garbage taken away, it would be done in a systematic manner, and at a cost of not more than one-half to three-quarters of a mill on the taxable property in the city. Think this over gentlemen, and I feel that this council will co-operate in any movement of this kind.

"I do not want this letter to appear as a censure to anyone, but merely to put the members of council right with their constituents on this ordinance in regard to the health examinations

"With all due respect to our board of health, I suggest let's get together in the future on legislative proposals.

MISS COSTELLO AT AMERICAN

Dolores Stars in Film Success, "The Third Degree."

Dolores Costello's latest starring vehicle for Warner Bros., "The Third Degree," which opens a three-day run at the American theatre today is a powerfully dramatic argument against circumstantial evidence.

A well-to-do man between 40 and 50 years of age and of uncertain means of support is shot in his luxurious Fifth avenue apartment. When the police arrive they find a young husband with whose wife the victim is thought to have had relations standing over the body in a dazed condition with a ladies' size automatic in his hand. There is liquor on his breath and he bears the unmistakable signs of a rough and tumble struggle.

All superficial circumstances point to his guilt and the detectives, with minds made up, set about the task of making him confess by submitting him to the infamous "third degree." At last, after long hours of mental torture he is worn down to a confession.

Hardly knowing what he does, he signs his own life away. With the circumstantial evidence backed by the confession any court in the land will convict him. Only one person can save him, and she is impelled to silence by the powerful motives of self-preservation and mother love.

Jason Robards plays the suspected man. Louise Dresser, Rockliffe Fellowes, Kate Price, Tom Santchi, Harry Vavitch, David Torrence and Fred Kelsey are also in the cast.

"The Third Degree" was adapted from Graham Baker fom the famous stage melodrama of Charles Klein. It was directed by Michael Curtiz.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

County Auditor Walker Mails Notices to Fiscal Agents.

Fifteen taxing districts, which includes six municipal corporations, three townships and six school districts have failed to file their 1927 appropriation sheets and also their balance sheets, according to letters just sent the fiscal agents of these districts by County Auditor Elmer E. Wilker. In this letter Auditor Walker has pointed out that "all funds spent since January 1st have been spent illegally and fiscal agents are held strictly responsible."

In addition to sending out requests for these appropriations and balance sheets, Auditor Walker has also mailed to clerks of all board of education clerks in the county blank statements to be returned, showing balances in school funds, and these statements to be certified by banks where school funds are on deposit. No tax distribution will be mailed these clerks either next month or in August unless these statements are on file.

"Since I was sixteen years old," said Mrs. Fuhrman, "stomach and nervous troubles kept me weak and rundown. Nothing I could do seemed to overcome those distressing conditions, and I had come to the belief I could never be healthy again. It lay like a lump in my stomach and caused a tight choking feeling in my chest and throat.

"But all those symptoms have disappeared and I'm enjoying the best health of my life since trying Tanlac. Instead of the old torpid drowsy feeling that dragged me down, I'm spry and active. Instead of the old headaches and dizzy spells my head is clear and free from pain. I eat, sleep and feel like an entirely new woman. Tanlac is the best ever and has my full endorsement."

ELKS FACE DAMASCUS TWICE IN WEEK'S COUNTY L AGUE GAMES

Hoosiers on Top as Three Leaders are Beaten.

BY GENE HOFFMAN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The race for the Big Ten basketball championship was still wide open today despite the fact that Indiana is leading the parade with a half game margin over four bristling challengers, all tied for second place.

Indiana has won six games and lost two. Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue and Iowa have each won five and lost two. This unique standing resulted from Saturday night's upheaval when each of the three teams, tied for first place—Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue—took the count before a worthy foe.

The Hoosiers took the lead—and incidentally a piece of sweet revenge—by upsetting Michigan in the latter's own bailiwick, 37 to 34. It was Michigan that put the Hoosiers on the chutes several weeks ago by giving them their first drubbing of the season.

The early dopesters who picked Indiana to win the conference title are now back on the job oiling up their vocal cords for the chorus of "I told you sos." But with four fighting teams chafing at the post, only one-half game behind, Indiana is anything but "in." The race is still wide open.

Two other surprises Saturday night were the defeat of Wisconsin and Purdue, two of the strongest teams in the conference. Ohio State took Wisconsin into camp, 20 to 16, at Columbus, and Iowa defeated Purdue, 33 to 28, at Iowa City. In the fourth game Saturday, Chicago trimmed Northwestern, 40 to 21.

BATTLE QUAKER QUINT TONIHGT IN ROAD CLASH

Meet First Half Champions Here Thursday Night.

Bill Powell's Elks will have to cop two in a row this week to stay up in the race with Columbiana, Salem and Damascus in the last half county cage league drive.

If they do land two in a row, it will mean the elimination of the Damascus Quakers for both engagements in which the Antlers figure down the next six-day stretch are billed with the opening section champions, the first at Damascus tonight and the second here on Thursday night.

While the locals are tangling with the Goshen township aggregation Salem will be playing Salineville in two games and Columbiana probably will be winning from the Lisbon Scholastics.

This week's contests mark the midway point in the final half of the schedule, consequently giving each club two games with its opponent.

Lisbon, Salem, East Liverpool and Columbiana have each lost one game thus far, but Columbiana and Damascus have a postponed engagement to play and that will automatically sink one of those clubs a little farther.

The operations of the Damascus club have been a triffle puzzling thus far and their lineup for their two games this week is causing some speculation among followers of the Elks.

Neither Forward Grice nor Guard Kyser, the latter one of the classiest defense men in the circuit, have played with the Quakers in the second half thus far. But in the meantime Manager Bye's outfit has picked up two Alliance boys who have led the team to victory in two contests.

Consequently the question in the minds of B. P. O. E. enthusiasts is, "Will Grice and Kyser play against the Elks this week-"

The week's schedule follows:

Tonight.
East Liverpool at Damascus.

Tuesday.
Salem at Salineville.

Wednesday.
Lisbon at Columbiana.

Thursday.
Damascus at East Liverpool.
Salineville at Salem.

Friday.
Columbiana at Lisbon.

Klinck's passers led all the way, running up a score of 18 to 2 at the half, with the entire squad playing great basketball to push through Chester's usually reliable defense.

Forward Dickey led the scoring with four field goals and four fouls for a total of 12 points, while Provost and Calhoun chalked up three buckets apiece.

Center Kimble contributed most of Chester's points, registering two field goals and two fouls.

Register Three Field Goals During Game, Two of Them on Second String Squad; Larkins, McConville Cut Down Scoring Chances.

Coming to the Pottery City Saturday night with a highly polished reputation, Dover Scholastic basketballers took a 28 to 11 walloping at the hands of Jimmy Hamilton and his company as the Blue and White registered its fifth consecutive clean-up.

The visitors had captured 13 out of 16 starts prior to their appearance on the local court but Saturday night they ran into too much opposition. They were stacked up against a bunch of fighting basketballers that were bent on maintaining their winning streak and were swept to defeat in the first period of play. Lorahmen launched an attack that the visitors were powerless to stop and the game was in the Blue and White bag before the intermission had arrived.

It was not so much the fact that Dover was weak—far from it. The Doverites are a good team and their record shows it, but the locals were a whole lot better.

The visitors were unable to organize any decent sort of play with the great defensive playing of Larkins and McConville smothering them constantly. Three field goals were all that they made in the game and two of them came after Lorah had run in his second stringers during the last five minutes of the performance.

Dover exhibited some fair pass work at times but lacked the ability to get it through McConville and Larkins for points. They were given few real opportunities to count.

English registered the first field goal on a long pass from McConville. Larkins was fouled in trying for a basket and Dick added two more points. McConville dropped in one of his specialty shots from mid-floor. Hamilton slid in two more field goals in a row and English sank one on a one-hand try. The game looked like a runaway at this point.

Dover registered its first points from the foul line, Braun counting twice. McConville dropped in a two-pointer for the locals and the tally was 14 to 2 at the end of the period.

The rest of the struggle was a little quieter than the opening quarter. East Liverpool added four more points while Low got by for the visitors' only field goal of the first half, the score being 18-4 at the end of the second quarter.

Lorah's squad began to pelt the basket again in the third quarter and ran the count up to 25 points, the visitors getting one more counter.

Dover scored more in the final period than they had made the rest of the game, but not enough to cause any alarm. They added six points while the locals were making but two but it didn't mean a thing for the Blue was beyond the danger zone.

Though all the regulars played real basketball and all figured in the scoring, no little credit goes to Larkins and McConville, the guards, whose playing probably set a new high standard for the year.

| E. L. H. S. | | Dover H. S. |
|---|---|---|
| Hamilton | F | Braun |
| McKeever | F | Rearick |
| English | C | Slaughter |

Field Goals—Hamilton 3, English 3, McConville 2, McKeever, Low, Yorkievitz, Schlundt.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover Speaks in Oakland Church.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, of Tionesta, Pa., spoke yesterday at the revival services in the Oakland Free Methodist church. He had as his subject yesterday afternoon "Evolution." He spoke in part as follows: "What is Man? This is the eternal question, that has puzzled the scientists for ages.

According to the scientists, their best answer is evolution. There are so many classes of evolution, it is hard to keep tab on them but for the purpose of brevity, I shall discuss them under three leads.

First, the apeists, evolutionists. These are they who have been trying to make a monkey our ancestor.

Darwin H. G. Wells and many others so-called, scientists of the present day belong to this class.

"All they have succeeded in doing is to weave a fine spun theory that begins with the ages and gets no where, except up a tree and as we are unfortunately without tails, it is difficult to hold on, especially to this theory.

The need of a tail is evident to complete the missing link, but the only one the evolutionists have or succeeded in providing us with is a tale of woe.

The only proof they have of this theory, is similarity. But because some people may look like monkeys, and sometimes act like monkeys, is no proof that they are monkeys.

"The evolutionists are about to start a church in New York, and some one suggested, that they should put this sign over the door, let none enter here except those that are of beastly origin. To this the fundamentalists say amen.

"However, this theory is on the wane so it behooves the evolutionists to scamper around among the ape skulls and old fossils too numerous to mention in order to bolster up the remains of the theory. So many are deserting the apeist theory as being absolete, and are joining the protoplasmists.

"These are they, who with Scopes teach that some where way back in the protozic age, a protoplasm, began in the sea water, and then branch off into various animals groups, finally culminating man.

If the Bible said anything as idiotic as this the scientists would laugh us to scorn. This is science up to date.

Seek Information On Guilford Land

Game Association to Send Committee to Columbus.

The Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association is now arranging to send a committee to Columbus to ascertain why no money has been paid for property in Hanover township that is to be included in and known as the Columbiana county state park. How soon this committee will leave will be determined by the work that is now being done by Randall Hamilton of Lisbon.

Money for the purchase of this land was appropriated by the last general assembly, and abstracts have been approved by the office of the attorney general.

"Now that the matter has gone this far, there is no use in showing lax interest in the project," suggested Mr. Hamilton today, "and what we are interested in knowing is why the department has not bought the land when the money was made available. That's why we are going to Columbus."

Two weeks ago a few abstracts were returned to Lisbon for minor alterations and these have been made. Now all the abstracts are at Columbus, according to Mr. Hamilton.

The twenty-million-dollar electric power project on the Sho river in Japan, will be completed in 1929.

Harry Goodwin's Entertainers Appear in Conjunction With Betty Bronson's Picture, "Everybody's Acting."

Harry Godwin and his 10 entertainers—eight men and two girls, offering top-notch comedy, singing and dancing features, will headline the motion picture—vaudeville bill at the Ceramic thratre today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

This class, a vaudeville attraction, on its way west after an eastern tour, will appear in conjunction with the human interest comedy-drama of life back stage, "Everybody's Acting," a Paramount picture in which Betty Bronson heads a galaxy of film and stage favorites.

Not only is Marshall Neilan credited with having produced and directed the picture, he also wrote the story from which it was adapted. And it's a fascinating tale which Mr. Neilan has evolved.

The opening scenes take place in a small Canadian town way back in 1908. Behind the scenes in a stock company's theatre, a tragedy is enacted when the leading lady's husband murders her. After the man has been hung for his crime, four members of the troupe and a newspaper reporter adopt the orphaned infant daughter

Eight years pass. The strange sextet are living in San Francisoco and the little girl, adored by all five foster fathers is being trained for the stage.

Again the scene shifts. Doris, eighteen years old, is an ingenue with a San Francisco stock company. Her actor guardians are now members of the same troupe; the reporter, an editor. Doris meets Ted Potter, son of an enormously wealthy woman who objects to her son's association with an actress. How the latter uncovers the unpleasant details of the deatus of Doris' parents and how the ultimate consummation of her romance comes about, provide more than a few thrills and heart throbs.

Betty Bronson is superbly cast as the girl who grew up. Ford Sterling, Henry Walthall, Raymond Hitchcock, Edward Martindel and Stuart Holmes all give interesting characterizations, as do Lawrence Gray and Louis Dresser,—the hero and his mother.

Tried many remedies—Simple home treatment brought relief

A sufferer from acute rheumatism for many years, a Winchester, N. H., man at last found that he could always get rid of the pain, and relieve the swelling and stiffness by a simple home treatment.

"After trying various remedies," he writes, "Sloan's Liniment was recommended to me, and it stopped the pain."

What is the reason for these remarkable results?

Simply that Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up your own forces to get rid of the conditions that are causing the pain.
